STEAMSHIP TWELVE DAYS LOST AT SEA SAVED FROM PERIL

U. S. Battleship and Revenue Cruisers Searched in Vain for Missing Ponce, Ship Towed Into Bermuda After Hope Had Been Given Up—Missing Maracas Also in Port.

BY BOSTON AMERICAN LEASED WIRE.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—A message has just arrived from Bermuda saying that the steamer Ponce of the New York & Porto Rico Steamship Company has arrived there in tow of the tramp steamship Wabble.

No vessel named the Wabble is registered, and it is believed the rescuer of the Ponce is the German steamer Wangard, which left Savannah, Ga., on January 4 for Bremen.

For more than a week a United States warship and three revenue cutters have been searching the sea between New York and Porto Rico for the missing steamer.

The Ponce sailed from Ponce on Christmas day with 112 souls on board. She was twelve days overdue here. She was last sighted on Dec. 28 by the Shenandoah.

The overdue Trinidad liner Maracas, Captain Kirkby, which it was thought by some had fallen in with the overdue Ponce and was towing that vessel, steamed in past Sandy Hook early to-day and reported that a breakdown of machinery had caused her delay. The Maracas was almost five days overdue. She reported fine weather during the trip and that she had seen nothing of the Ponce.

The derangement of the ship's machinery occurred on New Year's Day and thirty-six hours were taken up in repairing it. After this the vessel proceeded under reduced speed, sometimes making only five or six miles an hour. She arrived at Quarantine at 6:50 o'clock.

ENGINEERS EXHAUSTED.

The Maracas sailed from Port of Spain, Trinidad, on December 29, and for three days sped along in good style. On New Year's Day, however, the circulating pump gave out and the machinery stopped. The injury occurred about 2 o'clock in the morning, and for thirty-six hours the vessel lay to in order to effect repairs. The reak was stubborn and First Engineer Sheriff and Second Engineer Kay had their troubles in patching up the pump. The sea was comparatively smooth, however, and the work went along under easy conditions.

But slow progress could be made after the injury was repaired. The engineers had become almost exhausted by their long labors, and it was considered fortunate that a gale had not come upon the vessel before the repairs were complete.

PONCE LAST SEEN DEC. 28.

The Ponce sailed from Ponce, Porto Rico, on Christmas day. Then followed the last days of the Ponce's voyaging of which anything is known. It was on December 28 that she was seen for the last time, being spoken on that day by the American clipper ship Shenandoah. The sailing vessel was in communication with the missing vessel at 11 o'clock in the morning in latitude 27.48 north and longitude 69.48 west.

Captain Chapman of the Shenandoah described the meeting as a most auspicious one. Good weather prevailed and the Ponce was going along well. The compliments of the season were exchanged and the Shenandoah asked to be reported as "all well" upon the arrival of the Ponce at New York.

This was about 800 miles south of Sandy Hook. The Ponce passed to the north out of the Shenandoahs' vision. She was going along well and those in the clipper ship were greatly surprised upon their arrival on January 6 to find that the Ponce had not come in. Good weather was reported by Captain Chapman all the way up the coast after sighting the Ponce, and he thought the vessel could not have got into trouble because of foul weather.

OBSTRUCTIONS IN PATH.

The danger of the derelicts was one of the first spoken of by shipping men to account for the Ponce's delay. It was shown that many of these obstructions beset her path. Nine derelicts were indicated on the hydrographic chart.

There were two barks and several schooners, all in various stages of submersion—sodden, waterlogged hulks, which set in the course of the Ponce would almost surely send the vessel to the bottom.

60 NEW FEVER CASES TODAY

Physicians Are Facing Alarming Epidemic

Three Days' Record for City Show 175 Persons Stricken with Malady.

With sixty new cases of scarlet fever reported to the Boston Board of Health today, making a total of 175 within three days, the physicians of the city are face to face with the most alarming epidemic that they have been called upon to fight in many years.

No deaths so far have occurred, but as the strange and unaccountable appearance of the malady was only noted the first of the week, sufficient time has not elapsed for the disease to reach its critical stages. Seventy-eight cases were reported yesterday and thirty-seven Wednesday.

The 200 schools of the city are being searched by the eighty medical inspectors for incipient signs of the malady. Special physicians are raking the tenement districts with the hope of ascertaining what led to the sudden appearance of the contagious sickness, of which there are already about 450 cases in the greater city.

Patients Handled Swiftly.

Patients are being handled with as great swiftness as possible. The sufferers who cannot be accommodated in the contagious disease department of the City Hospital are being hurried by steamer to the quarantine station at Gallup's Island.

The zone of the disease seems to extend from Southern New Hampshire, through Greater Boston and into Northern Connecticut. Dr. Richardson of Everett, where there are about forty cases, said that as nearly as he could tell the cause of the disease was some mysterious condition of the air. Both children and adults are victims of the malady.

The safest thing to do when any sickness appears in the family at the present time, especially if there is fever, sore throat, vomiting and rash, is to put the patient to bed at once and send for a physician. It was said to-day that the majority of the cases are of a mild order.

So rapidly are the new cases appearing that the department does not know how it can handle them. Brookline now has taken as many as can be accommodated.

How to Detect Scarlet Fever and How to Treat a Patient

BY DR. THOMAS B. SHEA,
(Chief Medical Inspector of the Boston Health Board.)

HOW TO KNOW SCARLET FEVER: Attacks of vomiting. Appearance of sore throat. Slight fever. Rash after from ten to eighteen hours. Rash first appears on chest.

WHAT TO DO WITH SCARLET FEVER: Put the patient to bed. Try no simple, household remedies—there are none. Call a physician at once.

BY DR. FRANK BURR MALLORY,
(Pathologist of the Harvard Medical School.)

CAUSE OF SCARLET FEVER: A germ of animal origin. It may be in water, milk, food, or in the air.

BY DR. LOUIS FISCHER,
(Of the Willard Parker and Riverside Hospitals, New York.)

LATEST MEDICAL TREATMENT: Use of scarlet fever serum discovered in Berlin and tested in this country.

Number of cases in Greater Boston, 460.

GUILD SEEKS TO AVOID COURT IN HARRIS CASE

Governor Curtis Guild, Jr., who has been summoned to appear before the Superior Court in Boston on Monday next, in connection with the hearing of the petition for an injunction against the BOSTON AMERICAN in its publication of the "Massachusetts Dreyfus Affair," which Medical Examiner Frank Harris wrote last Spring when he feared he would not live, is waiting to-day to learn from Attorney-General Dana Malone whether he will be compelled to testify.

The Attorney-General is now in Washington, and until the Governor hears from him the chief executive is taking action to prevent going to court. Many lawyers take the ground that the Governor should not be compelled to attend the hearing as a witness, because it was not a public hearing at which the now famous "Harris bordereau" came into his possession.

The Governor does not think that he should be compelled to testify at the hearing next Monday and he is going to take no chances until he learns from the attorney-general just what the legal requirements are.

The Bordereau went to the Governor along with other evidence to convince him that he should ask his council to decide whether Charles L. Tucker should die for the murder of Mabel Page or whether he should become a prisoner for life. The Governor decided not to interfere with the verdict of the jury or the sentence of the court and he did not sumbit the case to the council.

Last Monday the BOSTON AMERICAN began the publication of the review of the Tucker case written by Dr. Harris. He wrote it after the style of the famous bordereau in the Dreyfus case in France, and styled it "The Massachusetts Dreyfus Affair."

The bordereau was being printed in installments, and two sections had been published when a temporary injunction was granted at the request of counsel representing Dr. Harris forbidding the publication of the document until the permanency of the injunction sought should be argued before the Superior Court on next Monday at 1 p. m.

SOTHERN IS CALLED IN THE 'BORDEREAU' CASE

E. H. Southern, the famous tragedian and life-long friend of Dr. Frank Harris, former medical examiner of Suffolk county, has just been summoned as a witness at the hearing for a permanent injunction to compel the BOSTON AMERICAN to cease publishing the now famous Tucker "bordereau."

Sothern, who has time and again declared to his many Boston admirers that he considers Dr. Harris one of the highest types of men and that the doctor has displayed high minded courage in coming forward and telling the world that he made a mistake in the Tucker case.

Last Summer at his country home in Elberon, N. Y., Dr. Harris and Mr. Sothern freely discussed this now famous case.

FERNALD AUTOPSIES ANGER NURSE'S FRIENDS

MISS ADA M'LEOD, WHO INHERITED PROPERTY, REPORTED ILL IN EVERETT.

Denying herself to all callers and reported at her house as sick, Miss Ada McLeod, the sister of Mrs. Margaret Fernald who died but little more than a week ago, and the heir to the property of Elmer E. Fernald, who it is said was burned to death the day after Christmas, is to-day secluded in her home in Everett.

The friends of Miss McLeod are to-day expressing indignation over the investigation which the authorities at Ossippee, N. H., are making into the deaths of Elmer Fernald and of his father, George M. Fernald, of Jackson, N. H., who died at the Fernald home in Everett the day after his son perished in such a tragic manner. They believe that the autopsies held upon the bodies of father and son and the fact that the results are so long withheld from the public have not been in the interest of justice to Miss McLeod.

Cause of Death Plain.

They assert that the cause of death in each case was perfectly plain, and point to the high characters of the physicians who signed the death certificates as well as their known medical skill.

If any crime had been committed, it is declared, that fact should be made known at once. On the other hand the friends of the Fernalds declare that in the absence of proof of crime, in justice to all concerned in the case, the mystery should be cleared up at once.

The fact that all Elmer Fernald's property has fallen to his sister-in-law is not surprising to friends in Everett in view of the fact that she had so long and faithfully attended her sick sister to whom the elder Fernald had left his son's portion of his wealth as early as last July when a deed was recorded in the office of the county recorder of deeds at Ossipee, consisting of a house and land, now occupied by George D. Burbank. The value of this realty is about $2,000.

That the exhuming and autopsies on the bodies of Gengge and Elmer Fernald because of his request were not the result of disappointment at the inheriting of the property of Ada McLeod is the positive assertion of George S. Fernald of Jackson.

"No Jealousy," Says Brother.

"There is no jealousy," he says. "My brother Walter and I thought things didn't look right. Ada's materially different versions of how Elmer was burned to death increased our suspicious. We simply want to know the whole truth, and we [illegible]lieve that the county solicitor was thor[illegible]ghly justified in making the investigation and ordering the autopsies."

It is said in Jackson that Ada McLeod has written three letters concerning the tragedies. One is to Mrs. George D. Burbank, one to Mrs. G. C. Fernald and another which is to come to the hand of County solicitor Sewell W. Abbott [illegible] he is ready to receive the report of the doctors who conducted the autopsy to-day.

The autopsy showed burns on the [illegible]ody of the younger Fernald from a little a[illegible]ove the knees upward, the tips of the m[illegible]ustache being singed, but the eyebrows untouched. The hair on his head was singed slightly at the back of the neck.

Judge S. W. Abbott of Wolfboro, [illegible] he prosecuting attorney of Carroll County, said last night:

"I have not yet received from Dr. E. [illegible]. Hodgdon, the medical referee of the county, a report of the autopsies on the bod[illegible] of the two Fernalds. When that report [illegible] received I shall forward it to the district attorney of Middlesex County, Mass., under whose jurisdiction the case would come if there should prove to be any evidence of foul play."

HIGGINS MAKES 3 NOMINATIONS

Special to the Boston American.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Jan. 11.—Ignoring the demands of the barbers of Providence and Pawtucket that one of their men be appointed to the State Barber Commission, Governor James H. Higgins to-day appointed a Woonsocket man, James H. Cheveller, to the place. This is one of the few positions over which the Governor has exclusive control, and which does not have to go to the Senate for confirmation.

The Governor sent to the Senate the names of John R. Allen, for the office of State Commissioner of Accounts, and Walter C. Simmons for a place on the State Dam Commission.

TUCKER WAS GUILTLESS

Says State Detective Who Helped Shaw

Daniel W. Hammond Says Condemned Man Had No Time for the Crime.

Daniel W. Hammond, who, as a member of the State Police, had charge of the measurement of distances for the prosecution in the preparation of the case against Charles L. Tucker, declares that it would have been practically impossible for the young man to have covered the route that he took and have had time to commit the murder for which he was executed.

The former detective is the third man, each of whom helped to send Tucker to the chair, who has come out and asserted that he was innocent.

Hammond's conclusion is the result of personal investigation made with the greatest care under the direction of Chief Shaw. The distance that Tucker had to travel and the time that it required were the most vital points in the circumstantial case against him. Hammond says that he and others were greatly astonished when the jury found Tucker guilty.

Situation Unprecedented.

Coming after the startling assertions of Dr. Francis A. Harris, the medical examiner who was deposed for his change of belief in the matter, and Frederick A. Tarbox, the former chief of police of Newton, who arrested Tucker, that they felt absolutely sure of Tucker's innocence, the statement of Hammond makes a situation probably unprecedented in the annals of criminal history.

Hammond, whose knowledge of the case in so far as it favors Tucker, is here made public for the first time, makes four important points leading to the conclusion he has reached:

First—From a personal test made for Chief Shaw he found that Tucker did not have time to commit the murder and be where evidence established that he was on the day of the crime.

Second—Amy Roberts told him that not a single thing had been taken from the house, which eliminates the "death stickpin."

Third—No evidence that there had been any robbery was discovered, which shattered the motive of the prosecution.

Fourth—Tucker's arrest stopped the investigation of other suspected persons which might have led to the arrest and conviction of another.

SURPRISED BY VERDICT.

Mr. Hammond began a discussion of the Tucker case with this astonishing statement:

"I was very much surprised, and I believe many others were also, when a verdict of guilty was returned against Charles L. Tucker.

Hammond was one of the most active officers on the case. He traveled hundreds of miles, running down clues. He was present when the police interviewed Tucker. He carefully measured the distances of the various routes that figured in the case, but admits that he hurried over the course, while everything went to show that Tucker went over it leisurely. Hammond, continuing his statement, said:

"I accounted for Tucker's time that day until, if he committed the murder, he had not more than ten or eleven minutes in which to do it.

"This means that Tucker got access to the house, learned that all the members of the family were gone except Mabel Page, broke the bogus news of Harold Page's injuries to his sister, waited while she partly dressed for her journey to town, then went upstairs and stabbed her to death, all within ten or eleven minutes."

NO MOTIVE PROVED.

"Then where was the motive?" Mr. Hammond was asked.

"Only robbery as a motive was ever set up by the government. Not a particle of evidence existed as showing any other motive. It is even doubtful if robbery was attempted. I am not so certain that anything was taken from the Page house, even the stickpin.

"Plain, hard facts, and not theories, only appealed to me in my investigation of the Tucker case. To that end, I walked the distances, took the measurements, gathered what others actually knew—not what they thought or guessed—and applied the watch to all my tests over the route traversed by Tucker.

"Giving the government the fullest leeway, Tucker was near his home up to 12 o'clock, and was accounted for after 1 o'clock that day. This narrows the time to the hour between 12 and 1, if he committed the murder.

"I think it is established beyond doubt that Tucker was no nearer the Page house than Weston bridge at 12 o'clock, or may be three or five minutes after 12.

TUCKER WAS SLOWER.

"Hurrying at the rate of four miles an hour, it took me fourteen minutes to get from the Weston bridge to the Page home. There I showed my watch to Chief Shaw, remained one minute and hurried back around Cutter's Corner down toward the railroad, over the route Tucker is supposed to have taken, and around to Auburndale. Allowing only the one minute stop at the Page house, it took me about forty-five minutes to make the rounds.

"It would have taken Tucker longer, because there was no evidence that he hurried, but rather that he lingered at the bridge, again at Cutter's Corner, when he dropped his pipe, and again upon nearing Auburndale by the railroad route, where he stopped to watch the sports in the field.

"At an ordinary gait it would have taken him an hour. With stops a little more time would be required.

"On the other hand, if he didn't go to the Page house, then he could just about have made the round in the time during which he was away from the house, because the distance from Cutter's Corner to the Page house and return could be deducted from the trip made by myself.

DID NOT GIVE TIME.

"So, if he did proceed to the Page house, he could not by the closest figuring, making all allowances—yes, even if he cut across lots and moved with exceeding swiftness—have had more than ten or eleven minutes in which to enter the house and murder the young woman.

"I was indeed much surprised at the verdict, but thinking of it afterward I could not, of course, see how such eminent judges could listen to the evidence and the arguments and, with their superior experience and judgment, allow an innocent man to be executed. Therefore, I must accept the verdict. But up to that time I believed it impossible that Tucker could have been convicted."

"How much importance did you attach to the stickpin?"

"Amy Roberts distinctly told me that nothing was missing from the house—nothing whatever. Many weeks later she identified the stickpin. She said Mabel Page had a $10 bill. Well, $38 was found in Mabel's room, indicating that the murderer did not look for money. This deprived the government of the semblance of a motive."

"But about the money Tucker had after the murder?"

"It was shown that he came by it regularly. In fact, he must have spent some, because he honestly had more than was found upon him."

DROPPED OTHER SUSPECTS.

"And if Tucker were guilty, what theory can you apply?"

"None. I have no theory if Tucker did it. Besides, as I said before, I do not like theories. The hard facts are all that a discriminating officer should look to in cases of extraordinary perplexity, lest great injustice may follow."

"Ex-Chief Tarbox speaks of several other suspects."

"Certainly, there were several. All were investigated to a degree. There were many puzzling happenings in that neighborhood that certainly lend color to what Chief Tarbox says, even to a woman friend of Mabel Page, who committed suicide a few days after the murder.

"I remember the man in the case whom Mabel Page hated, and also the woman, still alive, who hated Mabel Page, and I recall the existence of the dangerous youth living not far away who was feared by many. When Tucker was arrested it sort of ended the investigation of the others.

"Tucker admitted the incident of the graphophone and the check. His reputation was not of the best, yet those who knew him well and understood his easy, careless nature, could not find in him the elements of a murderer."

Why Hammond Says Tucker Was Innocent

Daniel W. Hammond, who was a member of the State Police and had charge of the measurements and taking the time in connection with the various routes of travel in the case, is the third man who helped to convict Tucker who believes that he was innocent. He gives these reasons:

First — From a personal test made for Chief Shaw he found that Tucker did not have the time to cover the route and commit the murder.

Second—Amy Roberts told him that not a single thing had been taken from the house, which eliminates the "death stickpin."

Third—No evidence that there had been an attempt at robbery was discovered, which shatters the only motive advanced by the prosecution.

Fourth — Tucker's arrest stopped the investigation of other suspected persons, one of whom might have been guilty.

LABOR MOVES AGAINST STATE BIENNIAL LAW

State Branch, A. F. of L., Urges Forming of Leagues to Combat Plan.

WANT UNION POLICEMEN

The executive board and legislative committee of the State Branch, American Federation of Labor, which met yesterday at Wells Memorial to decide on a policy for labor legislation the coming year, instructed Secretary Driscoll to send circulars to all affiliated locals throughout the State urging the formation of anti-biennial leagues.

It was decided to concentrate effort mainly upon the passage of the overtime, picketing, anti-injunction and public opinion bills and the enactment of an amendment to perfect the eight-hour law.

Want Union Men on State Police.

Arrangements were made to introduce a bill providing that members of organized labor be made members of the State police, without salary, to assist in the enforcement of the child labor law. A circular will be sent to every affiliated union requesting that Representatives and Senators be shown the fairness of giving the nine-hour-in-eleven day to street railway employes.

A letter was received from the American Federation of Labor, requesting a report on the results of the last State campaign. Secretary Driscoll will report that most of the Senators who voted against the overtime bill were defeated, and that E. Gerry Brown of Brockton, labor's candidate, polled the largest vote ever received by a Democratic candidate for Lieutenant-Governor in Massachusetts.

Thirty-six Resolutions Considered.

Thirty-six resolutions, referred to the executive board by the recent convention at Lawrence, were considered. They were referred to the various officers in different parts of the State. Circulars will be sent out to acquire more facts in regard to the matters referred to in the resolutions.

Among those who appeared before the executive board with recommendations were E. Gerry Brown, president of the Brockton Central Labor Union, and Senator Daniel J. Mahoney of Holyoke. The next meeting will be held Sunday, February 24, in this city.

MORAN'S PROBE THREAT WORRIES CLOVER CLUB

PROSPECT OF DRY DINNERS IS PAINFUL TO MEMBERS OF ORGANIZATION.

The jovial members of the brilliant Clover Club are still in a condition of painful surprise to-day at the investigation which District Attorney John B. Moran is reported to be making into the serving of liquors at Clover Club banquets in the Exchange Club quarters.

The Hon. Joseph H. O'Neil, ex-Congressman and president of the Clover Club, president of the Federal Trust Company and member of the Exchange Club, says that he and the other Clover Club members always supposed they were acting within the law in regard to these banquets.

The point which Mr. Moran is said to be basing his investigation on is that the Clover Club banquets are held in the Exchange Club, and so the Clover Club people have no right to purchase liquors within the Exchange Club precincts. Mr. O'Neil says, however:

Guests of Mr. O'Neil.

"The Clover Club members are my guests at these banquets at the Exchange Club, as I am a member of the Exchange as well as of the Clover Club. As a member of the Exchange Club I entertain the Clover Club members and foot the banquet bills."

It is hopefully inferred that Mr. O'Neil is reimbursed by the Clover Club for the banquet bill, for the Clover Club's "feeds" are gorgeous affairs, and champagne is commonly reported to flow with all the abandon of Stony Brook in the halcyon days of the Fenway dredging contracts.

"We thought we were doing all right," pursued Mr. O'Neil. "As a matter of fact, we have done this way under advice of former police officials. Some six or seven years ago, when this question came up, we were given to understand that there would be no objection to this procedure. So we have held our banquets at the Exchange Club that way ever since."

Facing Appalling Prospect.

The bare possibility of the Clover Club having to sit down to "dry" dinners is appalling. Clover Club functions are noted for the splendor of the dinner and the sarcastic brilliancy of the oratory after dinner. In the reading of the club "Waste Basket," which is a regular feature of these gatherings, there is crowded wit and humor of an excessively personal quality.

A Clover Club banquet without wine would be, in the minds of those fortunate enough to have experienced them, like young Mrs. Gadsby's definition of being kissed by a man without a moustache, like "eating egg without salt."

It is fervently hoped by the members that the matter can be adjusted so that the Clover Club banquets can be cheered, as heretofore, by the delectable juice of the grape.

GERMANY MAY LEAD IN CONGO INTERVENTION

Agitation Inaugurated to Conserve Interests of Country's Trade.

BERLIN, Jan. 11.—Germany may take the lead among the nations in demanding a rearrangement of Congo affairs. A campaign of agitation pointing out that German trade and industry sustain a great loss through a system which places a monopoly in the hands of King Leopold of Belgium has been inaugurated, and it is expected the government may be forced to act.

One of the first subjects which will be called to the attention of the new Reichstag will be the Congo situation. It is the duty of the Reichstag, agitators argue, to see that German trade is given the possibilities guaranteed it under the Berlin treaty.

Establishing a German consulate in the Congo State is urged as the first step necessary in this direction.

MAINE BOY NEARLY "BROKE," SENT HOME

William T. Hubbs, fifteen years old, of Rockland, Me., who came to Boston a week ago to "learn a trade," was sent back by the police to-day, having been located by the police in a lodging house on Tyler street, South End, with eight cents in his pocket, the remains of $4 with which he started for Boston.

SAY WOMAN TEACHER CRUEL

Special to the Boston American.

WORCESTER, Jan. 11.—Declaring that their children are being punished under "British Army Rules," parents of children attending the Lakeview school to-day filed with the School Board a complaint against Miss Anna G. Cronin, a teacher in the school, and charge her with incompetency and cruel and abusive treatment.

The parents of the children are indignant. They charge that Miss Cronin has made small girls and boys stand from ten to fifteen minutes with their hands extended at full length above their heads, and that this punishment, inflicted for whispering, has made some children so faint that they have fallen to the floor exhausted.

SALEM, Jan. 11.—Charged with illegal treatment of Mrs. Ora Shapleigh of this city, Dr. Oran Cilley and Dr. H. F. Lambert, both of Boston, go on trial in the First District Court here to-day, before Judge George B. Sears. District Attorney Peters will probably handle the government's case.

PIUS X. THANKS FRENCH BISHOPS

PARIS, Jan. 11.—In a letter to the French bishops, which arrived to-day, Pope Pius X. justifies his attitude toward the French law for the separation of church and state and thanks the bishops for the unity they have shown in opposing the law under the instructions of the Vatican.

While the church is seeking neither civil war nor persecution, Pius announces it is ready to undergo persecution if necessary.

SHIP FOUR DAYS LATE BY STORM

Four days overdue and the object of some uneasiness, the Red Star steamship Menominee, Captain Stapleton, arrived in port here to-day from Antwerp. During her entire voyage the big ship was buffeted by rough seas and strong headwinds. At the southern edge of the Grand Banks last Wednesday she encountered a northwesterly gale which was the climax of her trying experience. There were seven cabin passengers on the steamer.

MRS. TOM PIERCE FIGHTS FOR BOY AND ALIMONY

Famed Society Horsewoman Files Libel Against Millionaire Husband.

Alleges Harsh and Cruel Treatment in Seven Years of Married Life.

Divorce proceedings instituted by Mrs. Thomas W. Pierce, now living with her brother, Jacob Rogers, a New York broker, at Great Neck, L. I., have to-day startled the wealthy and exclusive social circles of Boston, Salem, Newport and New York in the sensational charges of cruelty which have been lodged against the husband. But a few days ago it was rumored that the husband was about to bring suit for divorce against his wife, but the daring horsewoman has taken the reins into her own hands, the Superior Court records at Salem show.

A break between Mr. and Mrs. Pierce has been forecasted and predicted by their mutual friends ever since Mrs. Pierce left the pleasant country establishment and home at Topsfield, where she went to live about one year after her marriage to Thomas W. Pierce, on June 22, 1899.

Fight Over Child.

That the five-year-old child, Thomas W. Pierce, Jr., now with relatives of the father, will be the pivotal point about whom the fury of the coming legal battle will centre, is universally believed. He is the only child, and it is known that husband and wife have an ardent affection for this little lad as their only thing in common.

That the marital fortunes of former madcap Alice Crowninshield Rogers of Chestnut street, Salem, should have so miscarried is the unfeigned regret of friends of both woman and man, for they have long been popular and well liked in a large circle of society.

In Salem the filing of the divorce papers by the wife has caused the greatest surprise, for it was thought that he was to have taken the initiative, but with her accustomed and traditional impetuosity it is now figured out that she did this to retaliate for the undenied rumors that Mr. Peirce was contemplating that step.

Charges Cruelty.

It was through the law offices of Samuel H. Hudson of Boston that the libel in divorce was filed in the Salem Superior Court after 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. This is the first legal step following the separation between the Pierces over a year ago.

Mrs. Pierce declares that she is now a resident of Great Neck, L. I.; that she was married to Thomas W. Pierce on June 22, 1899, in Salem, and that on or about November 1, 1904, and again on December 1, the same year, and on other days, her husband struck her, treated her cruelly and abusively and pushed her about roughly. She asks that he be compelled by the court to pay her counsel fees, and also that he give her such alimony as the court may direct.

Wedded Twice Same Day.

An attempt was made to see Mr. Pierce at his home, but it was said there that he was away and perhaps would not return until to-day or Saturday.

Daniel N. Crowley, Mr. Pierce's counsel, said last night at his home in Danvers to a BOSTON AMERICAN reporter:

"I heard at the courthouse this afternoon that the libel had been filed. Other than this I know nothing, for the reason that I have been visiting in Maine and have not seen Mr. Pierce. Doubtless I will see him to-morrow. I have been his counsel and hope to continue. After we have had a consultation on the new turn of affairs and I find out just how the situation stands I will be willing to speak further. Further than this I have nothing to say."

Thomas W. Pierce and Alice Crowninshield Rogers were married June 22, 1899. At the time of the marriage a story was told by a relative to the effect that the couple first slipped off and were married in Providence. On their return the young wife told her mother of the ceremony.

As Alice was always playing pranks her mother did not believe her, and said: "Then we'll have a wedding right here."

Called "Tomboy Rogers."

At the time Mrs. Rogers and her two daughters were stopping at Mrs. Wheatland's on Essex street. Here their second wedding in one day was held, and was of a very quiet nature, in contrast to that of her sister, who was married with much pomp in Grace Church. At Alice's wedding Rev. Mr. Dewart of Trinity officiated.

Mr. and Mrs. Pierce have one child, a boy five years old, Thomas W. Pierce, Jr., who is now in Topsfield in care of a nurse and is said to have seen his mother but a very few times in his life.

Mrs. Pierce in her girlhood was known here as "Tom Boy Rogers." She was always acting the part of a boy, being a good ball player, and she got into trouble with the postoffice officials once on a time for filling the letter boxes around her home with molasses.

Just previous to her marriage, Alice Rogers lost a wager by which she was obliged to cut off her long hair to pay the bet and she has worn short hair ever since.

Threw Trick Bouquet.

At the famous North Church Alice, with a number of other girls, once put the handsome organ out of commission. While doing this she put her foot through the ceiling of the church. All were on hand at the service, when the organ would give out nothing but unearthly noises.

After her marriage she went "punging" like a small boy with Mrs. James E. Simpson, Mrs. George Wheatland and other society women of Salem.

Mrs. Pierce's last escapade in Salem happened two years ago. While occupying a box at the Salem Theatre she threw pennies on the stage. It was a play in which Andrew Mack starred. With Mrs. Pierce was Mrs. "Dick" Wheatland and others. To the leading lady Mrs. Pierce threw a bunch of violets, and when the actress stepped to pick up the flowers Mrs. Pierce pulled them back, having fastened the bouquet to a strong black thread.

What Mrs. "Tom" Pierce's Divorce Bill Sets Forth

That she is now a resident of Great Neck, Long Island.

Married to Thomas W. Pierce, now of Topsfield, at Salem, June 22, 1899.

That on or about November 1, 1904, Thomas W. Pierce struck her.

That on December 1, same year, her husband struck her roughly and pushed her about.

That on many other days he abused her and treated her roughly.

That her husband subjected her to cruel and abusive treatment frequently.

Asks that libellee pay her counsel fees.

Asks for alimony.

The greatest tyranny the body can suffer is produced by disease, and no person burdened with an affliction can claim that he is entirely free and should therefore take Dr. Burkhardt's Vegetable Compound, which gives radical relief in ailments with the following symptoms: Pains in the side, back and under the shoulder blades, smothering sensations, palpitation of the heart, poor appetite, constipation, etc. 30 days' treatment, 25c. # WAR ON RING JUST BEGUN IN N.H.-CHURCHILL

Author Declares Burnham Caucus Was "Belshazzar's Feast" of Machine.

CONCORD, N. H., Jan. 11.—Winston Churchill, announcing his diagnosis of Wednesday night's Republican legislative caucus for the choice of a senatorial candidate, calls it the "Belshazzar's feast of what is left of the Boston & Maine machine. But," he says, "the leaders of it are not statesmen, but practical politicians, and as such they cannot read the handwriting on the wall."

Reformers Have Just Begun.

The reform movement has only just begun. It will be carried into every town, city and ward in New Hampshire. Whatever the newspapers have failed to tell of the "inside" story of Wednesday night's Festival of Pull, Power and Patronage, will be told to the people from the platform by able speakers.

Two years hence, the fight will be not only for the Governorship, but for the Legislature as well.

Winston Churchill and his followers expected just the sort of criticism that is being heaped upon them by ring Republicans. How they meet it, especially now when their good judgment has been thoroughly vindicated, is best told in the author's own words. Having turned a deaf ear to the siren song of fakirs and ringsters alike, he now addresses himself again to the plain people of New Hampshire.

"The nomination of Mr. Burnham," Colonel Churchill said to-day to the BOSTON AMERICAN, "did not surprise me.

"The wisdom of the Lincoln Republican Club not having a candidate for the Senatorship is now apparent. All we could do was to advise our members to withhold their votes and enter a protest against such an election as took place last night. After much discussion, our members chose Congressman Currier as the man to whom they desired to give this complimentary vote, with the faint hope that the fact that he belonged to no particular wing of the party but was equally popular with all would gain votes outside of our membership.

"Personally, Senator Burnham is a kindly man and deservedly liked by his friends. Politically, he is a nonentity. The best comment upon his Senatorial ineffectiveness was made editorially last Autumn by the New York Sun, which had to resort to the Congressional Directory to find the name of the junior Senator from New Hampshire. The nomination of Mr. Burnham is a disgrace to the State, and the manner of its accomplishment by the Boston & Maine Railroad machine will react heavily against that machine in the future.

"Intimidation and Threats."

"At the last moment, the machine lobbyists from all over the State were sent for, and methods of intimidation and threats resorted to. Every means was used to compel the wavering to vote against their convictions. Public opinion is yet to be heard from on the subject of this election. I have reason to believe that the caucus last night is the Belshazzar's feast of what is left of the Boston & Maine Railroad machine. The leaders of it are not statesmen, but practical politicians, and as such cannot read the handwriting on the wall.

HUB PATIENT SHOVELS COAL AT FOXBORO

After passing a whole afternoon in the Foxboro Hospital for Dipsomaniacs, the legislative committee on charitable institutions and prisons and pardons has come to the conclusion that it has a very difficult problem on its hands in the investigation ordered by Governor Guild.

Councillors Bemis, Bartlett and Barry were the members of the committee who went to Foxboro with Lieutenant-Governor Draper.

All the inmates with whom they talked, two-thirds of the entire number, has complaints. Some found fault with the food, others with the medical attendance. None of them complained of bodily abuse. One man didn't like it because they made him take a bath.

A citizen of Boston, reputable, except for the drink habit, was induced to go to the institution on the supposition that it was a hospital. His first day there, he claims, they set him shoveling coal, and he was made so sick by it that he has ever since suffered a great deal.

"As a result of the inspection we made," said Councillor Barry, "we shall have a great deal to confer about with Attorney-General Dana Malone. You may depend upon it that this will be a most interesting inquiry. Our coming was entirely unexpected by the management."

CZAR IN POEM BEWAILS DOOM THAT HAUNTS HIM

Czar Nicholas.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 11.—Czar Nicholas has turned to poetry to give expression to his melancholy thoughts. A poem just written by him has caused a great sensation, on account of its outspoken gloominess, which means the Czar has little hope. A stanza of it, carefully translated, is as follows:

My happiness was born at night
And suckled in the gloom;
My pleasures have dissolved in flight,
Heart stricken at my doom;
My soul strives blindly for relief,
Chilled as by drifting snow,
By doubts which mock at the belief
Of finding peace below.

FALL RIVER UNION OPPOSES BIENNIALS

FALL RIVER, Jan. 11.—The Weavers Union, representing 3,000 textile workers, voted last night to oppose biennial elections. No formal resolutions were adopted, as it is expected this question will be taken up by the textile council, representing all the unions, at its next meeting.

SENATE ENDS MAINE ELECTION FIGHT

AUGUSTA, Me., Jan. 11.—The Senate Committee to-night finished counting the votes cast for the contested Senatorial seat for Kennebec County. The result was as follows: Heselton (Rep.), 6,086; Reardon (Dem.), 6,071; Ayer (Rep.), 6,078. Three ballots are still disputed, but they cannot change the result of the election.

MILLIONAIRE, DIVORCED, TO WED BEAUTY

By Boston American Leased Wire.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—Henry Sanford, young millionaire and club man, does not believe that the lottery of marriage contains nothing but unlucky marriages.

With a decree of divorce granting his first wife $80,000 outright and $4,200 annually for the support of herself and child, the announcement is made of his coming marriage to Miss Caroline S. Edgar, one of the most beautiful young women in society.

Miss Edgar is well known in Newport and Tuxedo. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Newbold Edgar and both she and her sister, Mrs. Richard H. Williams, Jr., are noted beauties.

Mr. Sanford is the son of Professor Samuel L. Sanford of Yale and grandson of the late Henry Sanford, president of the Adams Express Company, from whom he inherited a large fortune.

BILL FOR DIRECT PRIMARIES IN MAINE

AUGUSTA, Me., Jan. 11.—A measure providing for the nomination of candidates for public office by direct primaries was introduced in the House yesterday. Bills to prevent corrupt practices at elections and to amend the ballot law were also introduced.

SPURN COFFIN OF FATHER WHO SLEW MOTHER

Deck Mrs. Blanchette's Bier with Flowers—Pine Box for Assassin-Suicide.

FINDS A PAUPER'S GRAVE

Special to the Boston American.

GOFFSTOWN, N. H., Jan. 11.—In bitter unforgiveness of the crime which robbed them of their dearest friend on earth, the children of the late Joseph Blanchette, wife murderer and suicide, have refused his body a resting place beside his victim in the family burial lot.

While permitted a place at the flower strewn bier when the prayers were said, his form was spurned when the mourning cortege left for the cemetery and was abandoned to the authorities for the unmarked grave of a pauper.

It was a pathetic scene that marked the joint funeral services yesterday over the victims of Tuesday's double tragedy at Riverdale—a scene in which tenderest love and bitterest resentment were blended. All of the eleven children and the son-in-law were present, and while their grief as they bent over their mother's form was uncontrollable and their sobs moved the bystanders to tears, only one of them —Harry—would look upon the dead face of the father who had brought this sorrow upon them.

The mother's form was enclosed in the finest casket their means could afford—upon it a profusion of flowers. Across the room —the children would not let it stand too near—was the plain pine coffin in which the father lay, with not a flower breaking the dulness of the cheap stained wood.

When the service ended, followed by a long line of sleighs, the casket containing the woman's body was borne to its final resting place, half a mile away. An hour later the undertaker made another trip to the cemetery. This time he was alone, except for an assistant and a grim burden in his open sleigh—the plain pine box containing the body of Blanchette.

GEBHARD LOSES SUIT TO SISTER

By Boston American Leased Wire.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—Mrs. Isabelle Neilson, the sister of Frederick Gebhard, has obtained a judgment against her brother and two others for $65,249.62 for money loaned.

Mr. Gebhard is the uncle of Mrs. Reginald Vanderbilt and has been famous for years as the American admirer of Mrs. Langtry, the Jersey Lily.

'WOO MRS. READER?' 'NEVER,' LAUGHS SIR THOMAS LIPTON

"I Thought She Had Bee in Her Bonnet," His Answer to Fair Promoter's Statement.

Special Cable from the Hearst News Service.

Copyright, 1907, by W. R. Hearst.

LONDON, Jan. 11.—"I am very sorry for the poor woman because she seems respectable. I first met her on my recent trip to America, but thought there was a bee in her bonnet, so kept clear of her. I am one of those who unproposed."

With this jesting reply Sir Thomas Lipton answered the query of the AMERICAN representative who asked him to-day if he had lost his heart to Mrs. Ella Rawles Reader and had proposed marriage to the dashing American promoter as she and her present husband declared yesterday in an interview in New York.

Sir Thomas Dewar's Denial.

Sir Thomas Dewar, the whiskey king and millionaire, member of Parliament from Scotland, who was also declared to have made love to the remarkable woman financier, likewise emphatically denied the lady's assertion.

"I first met her in the House of Commons," he told the AMERICAN representative. "She had her husband with her at that time. I was introduced to him. I certainly had no intention of wedding a polygamist.

"I am keeping marriage and golf for gouty old age, when I can get an American beauty to take compassion on me and cheer my declining hours. I know nothing whatever of her proposed financial scheme."

London Laughs At Report.

Financial London never took Mrs. Ella Rawles Reader seriously, although it treated her with the consideration which American ladies always receive from notable Englishmen when they arrive in London with letters of introduction from distinguished Americans. The suggestion that such experienced millionaire bachelors as Lipton and Dewar proposed marriage to the lady made Throgmorton street and Capel court laugh.

Mrs. Reader spent several months at the Savoy Hotel last Summer, occupying a luxurious suite. She talked copiously about her schemes. One of the technical weeklies intimated that she was interested in the electrification of the railway from London to Brighton, but officials of the railway never confirmed the intimation.

Throgmorton street knows Mrs. Reader to be a remarkable woman financier, but that she ensnared the affections of Lipton and Dewar is an assertion which they greet with smiles.

Statements That Brought Fiery Denials Over Seas

Sir Thomas Lipton, John Dewar, M. P., and a doen other rich and prominent men in England have asked her to marry them, and she practically had agreed to marry Dewar, the whiskey millionaire of Scotland and a member of Parliament, when she met me.—From letter written by Mrs. Reader's husband.

While it is perfectly true that I gave up a title to marry Mr. Reader, it is not tre that all the men mentioned offere dto wed me. Mr. Reader had heard all sorts of flattering reports about me. A young man—the son of a prominent New York banker—had filled him up with all sorts of yarns about my conquests of heart both on this side of the sea and the other, and of course Mr. Reader was ready to believe them all at that time. —From an interview with Mrs. Ella Rawles Reader yesterday.

VOTE MAYOR'S FINANCE PROBE

By a vote of thirty-six to twenty-six the Common Council last night passed the Mayor's order providing for the appointment of a finance commission which shall make an exhaustive investigation into the debt, taxation and expenditures of the city.

Councilman Myron L. Pierce of Ward 11 was the principal opponent of the order, declaring that if Boston had a proper Mayor such an order would not be necessary. Mr. Pierce stated that he was in a position to say that former Mayor Nathan Matthews, Jr., had already been selected as chairman of the finance commission contemplated by the order.

Mr. Pierce was called to task by President Barrett for referring to the Mayor in unbecoming language.

1000 STRIKE IN CHICOPEE FOR HIGHER WAGE

Cotton Mill Workers Demand For 10 Per Cent. Advance Is Refused.

MILLS MAY BE CLOSED

CHICOPEE, Jan. 11.—One thousand operatives at the cotton mills of the Chicopee Manufacturing Company at Chicopee Falls are on strike because of a dispute with the agent regarding wages. Several hundred employes remained at work, but it is thought that unless the strike is settled within a few days the mills will be shut down. Last month a demand was made for a 10 per cent. advance of wages and refused by Agent Rawlinson. Two or three days later the Dwight Manufacturing Company raised wages 5 per cent. and the agitation at the Chicopee plant was resumed.

Agent Rawlinson says that 700 persons are at work and he does not look for a protracted strike. The head offices of the Chicopee Company are in Boston.

PURITY OF PRODUCT
Commands the Consumer's Confidence

When Cascarets Candy Cathartic were invented in 1896, and the formula was perfected after much experimental labor by highly scientific chemists, it was our aim not only to produce a perfect combination of EFFECTIVE CONSTITUENTS, but to have every ingredient the very best in point of PURITY and QUALITY that could be obtained.

We established a standard of PURITY and QUALITY and MEDICINAL STRENGTH that has been maintained for all these years, and every Cascaret tablet has been as harmless, pure, gentle and effective as every other one.

The substances that enter into a medicinal formula, to produce the desired effect, to be SAFE and ever TRUSTWORTHY, MUST be clean, fresh, carefully selected and compounded with painstaking supervision.

The eternal vigilance necessary to secure the ingredients of Cascarets in the most PERFECT CONDITION, so as to get the best effect without any danger from intruding substances, has never been relaxed.

What is the result?

There has never been a disappointment, never a complaint. The people of America are today buying over ONE MILLION BOXES a month of Cascarets Candy Cathartic, a recognition of their dependable qualities to do what is claimed for them, as the best medicine FOR THE BOWELS as yet discovered.

Our patrons are all our friends, loyal and more than satisfied of the steadfast, honest, reliable MERIT of our preparation. It is today the greatest FAMILY MEDICINE in the world.

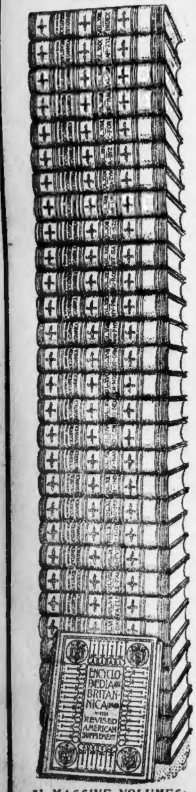

We attribute Cascarets' great success to PURITY, QUALITY and MEDICINAL EFFICIENCY, backed by Truth and Honesty in our dealings.

The Congress of the United States, on June 30, 1906, passed a PURE FOOD AND DRUGS ACT to protect the Health of the People against adulteration, misstatement and careless processes. This law went into effect January 1, 1907, and will help to banish all questionable pr[...]ces and preparations. We endorse the law.

Th[...]ence of this law was anticipated by the makers of Cascarets when [...]t box was made ten years ago, and every precaution was tak[...]lish Cascarets as the standard, reliable and responsible Bo[...]e for the American People.

Stepping Stones to Success!

31 MASSIVE VOLUMES: weight about 200 pounds.
Largest, Latest and Best Encyclopaedia.

A self-made man was recently asked the secret of success. He replied: "Learn a little each day, and use it to advantage." This man gave not only a recipe, but also a definition for true education. He had found out what education really means. For in this busy world it does not mean a Latin parchment from some college, or a few learned phrases stored up in one's head. It means, instead, a fund of useful facts which may be used in one's business, and a general alertness about outside affairs.

That is why the NEW WERNER 20th CENTURY

is of the highest value to self-made men. They rely upon it, and it helps them to succeed. It gives them just the sort of information they really need, and it gives it at once. All its articles are authoritative—written by the world's greatest specialists. A dip in its pages for only a few moments each day will soon round out a liberal education. Wisely used, its thirty-one splendid volumes become stepping stones to success!

Every Trade and Profession

are summarized here and their essential principles are given in plain language, which every reader can follow unaided.

Do you wish to study ELECTRICITY, or MINING, or WOODWORKING, or POLITICAL ECONOMY, or LAW, or the LABOR question?

Consult its 25,000 teeming pages! It maps out no less than seventy-three separate courses of study, giving you ALL THE MATERIAL as well. And many of its subjects are treated so fully and clearly that they have been reprinted in book form for use in schools.

If you have no Encyclopedia in your home or at your place of business, you are handicapped in the race for success. You need the best procurable, and that is the new Werner 20th Century Edition of BRITANNICA.

On account of our extensive advertising and distributing facilities we are supplying this world embracing work DIRECT FROM THE FACTORY to readers at 50 per cent discount, and on terms so easy as to place it within reach of every man and woman who can spare TEN CENTS A DAY.

Let us tell you more about this remarkable offer. But do not delay, as our contract is soon to expire, and we cannot renew it. Read this Special Warning.

It is worth money to all those who intend to get the Britannica "some day." Take advantage of this offer NOW—before it is too late.

Special Warning!

The great success of this American edition of the Encyclopaedia Britannica has driven the high-priced English edition from this market. As a result an agreement has been made against the 20th Century (American) edition to withdraw it from sale entirely in favor of its English rival. WE CANNOT RENEW OUR PRESENT CONTRACT; and this means that in a short time you cannot obtain a set at Half Price and on easy monthly payments.

DO NOT DELAY!

MYSTERY IN SUDDEN DEATH OF HUB LAWYER

Attorney, Once Rich and Prosperous, Taken Dying From Salvation Army Barracks.

KEEPS LIFE A SECRET

The pathetic ending of the life of a once prominent Boston lawyer was told at the Relief Hospital, while the man who gave his name as George Smith breathed his last early to-day. He was brought to the hospital from the Salvation Army barracks on Green street, where he went last night and obtained a room. During the night terrified cries came from the room and he was found crawling about on his hands and knees. He was immediately sent to the hospital.

When told that he was dying he would give no further information than that his name was George Smith, and that he was once a wealthy and prominent Boston lawyer. He was five feet nine inches in height, weighed 140 pounds, had smooth face and grey hair. He wore a dark gray suit of clothes, black shoes and stockings and light-colored underwear.

CHURCHILLS TO GO TO WEDDING

CONCORD, N. H., Jan. 11.—Winston Churchill and his wife leave here Sunday night for Montreal, Can., to attend the marriage of Mrs. Churchill's brother, George D. Hall, of Dover, Mass., to Miss Marjorie Hays, daughter of the president of the Grand Trunk railway, which is set for January 10.

Doctors Admit

That They Can Do Nothing More For Your Stomach Than Stuart's Dyspepsia Tabets Are Doing Every Day.

COSTS NOTHING TO TRY.

According to the expert analysis of government authorities in the United States and Great Britain, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets contain the exact elements provided by nature for digesting food in the healthy stomach.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have saved sufferers from stomach disorders millions of dollars by giving them, in one small 50 cent package, more relief than countless treatments by physicians would bring about at $3.00 per visit.

Perhaps you are afflicted with dyspepsia—or some kindred disease arising from a disordered digestion. It may be headaches, heartburn, palpitation, liver trouble, insomnia, nervous debility. They all have their beginning in a stomach which does not secrete the juices or grind the food which is taken into it.

If so, we urge you to send for a free trial package of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. It will cost you nothing and surely will bring us no gain unless you find, after using it, that you are benefited and feel that you need a full-sized package.

There is absolutely no danger in using Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. Nothing is contained in them that has not been subjected to the closest scrutiny by the government officials.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will digest your food without demanding a careful diet. One grain of these Tablets has power to digest 3,000 grains of ordinary food. You can be sure therefore that no matter what your condition, these little tablets taken after each meal will shortly restore your stomach to its normal condition and render it capable of doing its work unassisted.

We withhold the names of hundreds who have written us voluntarily expressing their gratitude to this simple substitute for nature.

Send for trial package today. F. A. Stuart Co., 70 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

50 cent size package for sale by druggists everywhere.

GRAND JURY TAKING UP CHARGE AGAINST LINEHAN

Senator Linehan's Grand Jury Face

This shows how the Senator looked before the Grand Jury began its investigation. After the investigation is over we may print another photograph showing how he looks then.

Further Probe Expected in G. G. A. Complaint That Alderman Violated Law.

The Suffolk Grand Jury was expected this afternoon to take up statements made by the Good Government Association that State Senator Frank A. Linehan had violated the statutes when he was a member of the Board of Aldermen by being connected with a city contract.

Several men, some of them said to be city officials, who received summonses yesterday to appear at the Grand Jury rooms to-day are expected to be called in as witnesses. Among the first of these expected to testify is said to be Contractor William J. Hallion of No. 195 West Fifth street, South Boston.

Hallion had a city contract for building a bithulithic walk on the Common. His home is at the South Boston address, given above, and Senator Linehan's home is at the same place.

The Good Government Association, in its official organ, "City Affairs," asserted that Alderman Linehan, as he was then, was connected with Hallion. The matter came to the ears of Mr. Moran, who instituted an investigation. A former Grand Jury looked into the matter, but did not make a report on it.

The issue of yesterday's summons is taken as an indication that the case was not finished at the time, and that it is to be looked into further.

ROBERT L. LINCOLN LEAVES FOR SOUTH

BENNINGTON, Vt., Jan 11.—Hon. Robert L. Lincoln and family, who have been spending the Winter at their Summer home in Manchester, have gone to Augusta, Ga., for the rest of the season. They left in their private car, "Mayflower."

GIRL, 6, SAYS PRISONER TRIED TO KIDNAP HER

Six-year-old Grace Craig, of No. 125 Franklin street, Quincy, appeared with her parents in the Quincy District Court today and testified against Antonio Melini, an Italian laborer, who she said had tried to kidnap her last Monday night.

According to the child's story she was on an errand for her mother when Melini caught her by the hand and began to drag her in the direction of Faxon park. The little girl screamed so loudly that a granite cutter named James Bennett, attracted by her cries, ran to the rescue and scared off the Italian, who took to the woods. Vigilant search for Melini was rewarded last night by his capture at Dever's Corner.

Assault and battery was the charge against him in the District Court. The hearing was continued until January 26.

LIGHTSHIP IS DISABLED

NEW BEDFORD, Jan. 11.—Wireless messages announce that Nantucket South Shoals Lightship No. 66 is having trouble with her boilers. Superintendent Killien of the construction department declines to make any statement, but the wireless news says that several tubes in the main boiler have given out.

Engineer William F. Harrington resigned last Saturday on the ground that the ship's boilers were not in proper condition for service and the inspector refused to sanction the repairs he deemed necessary.

PHILIPPINE ARMY "DOBIE ITCH"

Disease Contracted in the Philippine Service—Itching Pimples Covered Body — Army Surgeons Failed to Cure — Discharged for Disability—Cured by Cuticura, Now

A FIRM BELIEVER IN CUTICURA REMEDIES

"I enlisted in the Corps of Engineers as a telegraph operator, and, while stationed in the Philippines, I became subject to the "Dobie Itch," as the natives call it. In this disease small, white, itching pimples form under the skin, generally between the toes, on the limbs, between the fingers, and under the arms. I never knew of a case originating outside the Philippine Islands, but have known of many cases where it has returned in this country and invariably at the same time of the year as the original attack. The cause, so far as I could learn, was some tropical parasite or germ peculiar to that region.

"I got so bad that I was confined to my quarters a week at a time. The Army Surgeons applied some carbolic solution, and it would disappear for a time when it would break out again. I was discharged from the Engineers by reason of disability contracted in line of duty, and when I had the trouble again, my druggist, Mr. Z--, of Brooklyn, recommended Cuticura Remedies. The immediate relief was manifest with my first purchase, and the malady quickly yielded to the Remedies. It has never recurred or bothered me since I began to use and continued to use the Cuticura Remedies. You may quote me as a believer in Cuticura Remedies from personal experience. John S. Woods, 221 Sands St., Brooklyn, N. Y., Oct. 21 and 26, 1906."

AMADOR'S SON FLEES WOMAN

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—Dr. Raoul Amador, the youngest son of the President of the Republic of Panama, has retired from the post of consul-general in New York from the Isthmian republic, it is announced to-day. This step has followed close upon the notoriety given by the suits against him by Mrs. Bertha K. Gresham. As a representative of a foreign government he evaded service. The matter is now in the hands of the State Department. He will be succeeded by his elder brother, Martin Amador.

STORERS WILL QUIT AMERICA

By Boston American Leased Wire.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 11.—Mr. and Mrs. Bellamy Storer are still at Saranac Lake, N. Y., visiting Joseph Nichols, Mrs. Storer's son by a former marriage, and it was stated to-day by an intimate friend of the family that they will return to Cincinnati for only a brief period in March, before leaving to take up their permanent abode in Versailles, France, where they own a beautiful villa.

Both of Mrs. Storer's houses in this city have been leased and all the most valuable of the household effects have been shipped.

POOR NEWSBOY TO BE SENATOR

LANSING, Mich., Jan. 11.—Congressman William Alden Smith of Grand Rapids was last night nominated to succeed U. S Senator R. A. Alger. As there are only half a dozen Democrats in the State Legislature, the nomination by the Republican caucus is equivalent to an election.

Congressman Smith came up from the very depths of poverty. When a boy on the streets of Grand Rapids he peddled papers and afterward became owner of the Herald.

Get the Smiling Habit, Says Beatrice Fairfax

Try It Once and See How Easy It Becomes

By Beatrice Fairfax

DEAR girl, do you realize how much of your happiness in life depends upon the way you look at things?

If you are looking for the sad, the ugly, the gloomy things, you will be pretty sure to find them.

But if you are looking for the good, pure and uplifting things you will also be sure to find them.

For, pessimists and grumblers to the contrary, this is a beautiful old world, full of happiness for those who seek it.

To begin with, try and see the best that is in people. Every one has some good qualities if you take the trouble to look for them.

There are some unfortunates who persist in turning their worst side toward the world, and very often the temptation is great to just leave them alone to their disagreeable selves.

Keep Minds Clear

BUT we must not do that, for on every one of us there rests a moral obligation to help our fellow beings all we can. In finding good qualities in them we are helping them to rise to a higher plane, both in their own and the world's estimation.

We cannot close our eyes to the bad things in life, but we can to the impure and unlovely.

Keep your minds clear, girls. Never tell nor listen to vulgar stories and jokes. Remember always that modesty and dignity are among your most valuable and indispensable qualities.

Go out to your work each day determined to see the bright side of life.

Pessimists are such dreary people to live with. According to their creed, there is nothing but sorrow and trouble on earth.

See Bright Side

IF we would listen to all their croakings we would soon be as bad as they. Half of them sit down and accept life as its worst instead of trying to brighten it.

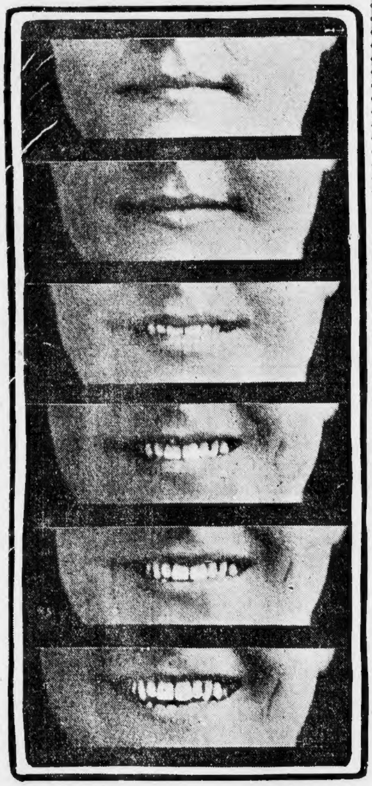

Very often a pessimist is simply a person of bilious temperament, who does not get half enough fresh air, exercise and wholesome living. So he looks through his own blue glasses and tells you the world is a bad old place, and that we are all going down hill as fast as possible.

But don't you believe him, my dears. Put on your own rosy-hued glasses and see how many beautiful things are happening all about you. See how much charity and love and kindness there is in this much-abused world.

And then go ahead and do your share toward making it all better and more beautiful.

Learn to smile instead of frown; learn to see beauty instead of ugliness; learn to see the good and true and pure in all things.

Do You Know How to Smile?

Working Women Can Stop a Great Crime Against the Children

By Gertrude Barnum

(National Organizer of the Woman's Trade Union League)

WHEN shall the pale little child laborers be set free to play in the fresh air and sunshine? Working women must answer this question, for it is they who are to free the working children.

Twenty-five years ago Mrs. Florence Kelley began a crusade to free children from the factories. Fifteen years ago I heard her pleading for them—she was working with Mrs. Alzina Stevens in the labor movement—and I thought her an Anarchist or Socialist. (I did not know the difference.) Her speeches seemed to me very dangerous and revolutionary.

Mrs. Stevens had lost a finger while working as a little girl in a canning factory, and, though she had freed herself from the factory, she never forgot the other little girls who were still being "chopped up in the canneries."

For all these twenty-five years splendid women like Mrs. Kelley and Mrs. Stevens have been calling to other women, pleading with the public, petitioning for laws in the various States, urging more and better factory inspection and defending the laws in the Supreme Courts—and where are we to-day?

Mrs. Kelley says we rank with darkest Russia in the care of our little children. Only we and Russia have 800,000 working children between the ages of ten and fourteen who cannot read and write.

Here and in Russia

ONLY the United States and Russia have over 2,000,000 children earning their living under the age of sixteen years. When the sun rises and the birds begin to sing these little ones are driven by tens of thousands into their prisons. While we sleep at night they are wearily toiling by thousands in the mines, the mills and the streets.

You working women know what work they do, and you know what it means. Many of you have worked yourselves, as children, and are suffering to-day from the effects.

All your lives you have been frail and tired; all your lives you have envied others who have had a playtime and who enjoyed the advantages of an education. Many of you are working feverishly to save your sons and daughters or your younger brothers and sisters from the lot that has been yours—to give them the chance you never had.

Some of you see with your own eyes babies four years old picking rags in rag shops, sorting fancy beads, arranging petals of artificial flowers or pulling bastings from men's coats, straining their eyes to keep awake till all their task shall be done.

Some of you know the little girls and little boys of eight and ten who sort filthy clothes in laundries; who breathe naphtha fumes in rubber factories, or sulphur fumes in match factories.

Some of you know the breaker boys of twelve, who, in the perpetual gloom of the breakers, crouch over the chutes, hour after hour, in clouds of coal dust, picking pieces of slate and refuse from rushing cataracts of coal, cutting their hands cruelly and sometimes "falling into the chutes, to be picked out later, at the bottom, smothered and dead."

Who Can Stop It?

YOU may have stumbled over the huddled bodies of tiny newsboys sleeping over gratings for warmth in the street, to rise later, sleepy, chill and stiff, and wait in line for a 3 o'clock "morning edition."

Perhaps your own little girls stand in the shrieking spinning rooms all day, watching the whirling spools with straining eyes, stretching tiptoe to reach with a spindle the top spool so high above their heads.

Perhaps your own little boys are in the steam vats of the dye houses or facing the hot, glaring furnaces in the glass factories.

Who knows and cares as much about child laborers as the working woman? And, who can do so much to free them?

It is the working women who must make the real fight for the working children, just as it is always the working people who must make every other good fight against industrial evils.

Child labor committees and women's clubs and civic federations will make public opinion. Senators and Congressmen may pass laws, but it will depend upon working people whether or not child labor shall cease in America.

Whenever you working women decide to stop child labor, it will be stopped.

The Way to Begin

WHY do you hesitate? Perhaps you think it can't be helped. "Maybe" you may say, "this little boy is the sole support of a widowed mother," or "This little girl's parents cannot get work and she keeps them from starving."

Perhaps you know the parents or the brothers and sisters of the child workers, and you think they cannot get on without the children's help. You are making a great mistake. If children are taken out of industry grown people will get better work and better pay, because there will not be so many persons for each place.

And if there are a few cases where a child is the only support of a widowed mother or other relatives there are societies ready and anxious to take care of both the child and the mother, just for the sake of giving the child a fair chance at health and education. There may be another reason why working women hesitate to speak of child labor. Are they afraid of losing their own work if they tell what they see in their work places? Again their fears are groundless. No one need ever know who reports a case to factory inspectors.

Sisters, do not wait. The children are crushed under heavy weights. Lend a hand to save them. Begin at once.

NEW PARIS MANTLE AND EVENING GOWN

This Mantle of Cream Silk and Gown o. White Net Is the Very Newest Importation Direct From Paris

THIS costume is one of the most striking Paris creations of the season. The mantle is of cream-white silk and the gown of white net, with black dots about the size of a pinhead, over green taffeta silk. Edging the mantle, all but around the arm-holes, there are pink rococo roses on narrow gold braid.

The band of dark green velvet into wh[illegible] the fulness gathered a litt[illegible] making the tra[illegible] fall in gracef[illegible] folds, is embroidered in gold, this bit of dark color being harmonious with the green silk foundation.

LOVELY WOMAN AND HER WAYS

WHEN a woman shows a disposition to be disagreeable she knows how to make it most effective.

* * *

A woman ever so much likes to feel that she has a capacity for guiding others.

* * *

A woman fiercely resents being regarded as set in her ways and opinions.

* * *

Even when a woman earns more salary than her brother he never deems it inconsistent to advise her about business and money.

The woman who goes into the business world wants to be considered above the average in shrewdness.

* * *

One comfort in life, any way, is to know that nobody is responsible for what their eyes say.

* * *

It is not being kissed that a girl objects to: it is to think that he thinks she would not resent it that makes her mad.

* * *

When a girl resents a fellow trying to flirt with her either he is very ugly or she is for the time being deeply in love with some other man.

PORK STEW

PUT three slices of pork in a frying pan; try out all the grease; pare six good-sized potatoes, slice into the grease; take three onions, cut up with potatoes, add one cup boiling water, season with pepper and salt. Cover and keep turning until done. Serve hot.

R. E. McALPINE.
No. 97 Centre street, Pawtucket, R. I.

WHITE BREAD

ONE and one-half quarts flour, one tablespoon lard, one teaspoon salt, two tablespoons sugar, one-half yeast cake, dissolved in warm water, enough water to knead thoroughly; mix at night. In morning knead again and put in pans. Let raise and bake in moderate oven.

MRS. W. C. SWAIN.
No. 797 Columbia road, Dorchester.

BLUEFISH A L'ITALIENNE

CLEAN a four-pound bluefish, sprinkle with salt and pepper and put side down on a fish sheet well buttered in a dripping pan. Add three tablespoons of white wine, three tablespoons mushroom liquor, one-half onion finely chopped, eight mushrooms finely chopped and enough water to allow sufficient liquor for basting. Bake forty-five minutes in hot oven, basting often. Serve with a sauce a l'Italienne.

MRS. SAMUEL A. ARMSTRONG.
No. 140 Stafford street, Worcester.

LOBSTER IN LA NEWBURG

ONE large lobster, two eggs, two tablespoons of cream, two of milk, wineglass of sherry, a little red pepper and salt, two ounces of butter. Pick the meat from lobster, put in saucepan with butter, milk and cream. Bring to the boil, then add the yolks of eggs and sherry. Let it thicken but not boil. Dish up immediately.

MISS ANNIE MULLOWNEY.
No. 601 Broad street, East Weymouth.

EVERYDAY FRUIT CAKE

ONE cup each of molasses and sugar, two-thirds cup of shortening, one teaspoon soda in one cup of hot water, one teaspoon each of salt, cinnamon, clove and nutmeg; add sifted flour till you have a stiff batter. Have ready one cup nut meats, one and one-half cups of raisins, seeded, one-fourth pound preserved citron, chopped fine and well floured. Stir in the cake dough, put in a long bread pan and bake in a rather moderate oven until done. Test with a broom straw. It is a good plan to bake a bit of cake as a "tester" in order to be sure the batter is quite right, as flour varies so much in its thickening qualities.

Avoid Waste in the Kitchen

"WERE there a kitchen commission appointed to look into the matter it would certainly be found that far more food is wasted than is actually consumed," was the startling statement of one of the largest caterers.

Therefore, look to it that waste is not going on in your own home.

For instance, see that potatoes are not peeled too thickly, that good dripping, which is excellent for making pastry and frying, is not put on one side, instead of being used, and that bits of broken bread are utilized for croutons or breadcrumbs and breadsauce.

Scraps from joints, trimmings from cooked bones and cutlets, fillets, of vegetables, outside leaves of lettuce, cabbages, etc., all can go into the stock pot instead of the dust bin, and all skimmings from stock can be clarified and used for frying.

ONE WAY TO BUY A HOME

MUCH has been said and will be said in favor of the "pay as you go" policy. There is no doubt that it is the ideal plan for the young couple just starting their little home and planning for the future.

But does this not necessarily exclude from all this planning and carrying into execution schemes for happiness a large percentage of the couples who are starting along the road matrimonial?

Not every young man who would make an excellent husband and who is amply able to take the very best care of a wife has a sum of ready money sufficient to furnish a house and start to housekeeping on a cash basis.

Why should not this couple buy their furniture and necessary outfit for the making of their home on the instalment plan? Would it not be better than trying to make a home out of a boarding house and paying out to a landlady enough to enable them to live cosily in their own little nest if they had it?

The Secret of Success

Because one buys something on time instead of for cash does not mean that he is to agree to pay more than he is able. To use this privilege wisely is the secret of success along the instalment line.

A couple can sit down and plan to save exactly what they will need to meet a payment on furniture at the end of the week or month as well as they can to set aside the amount for the board at the end of the week.

Most of our homes to-day are built upon the time payment basis, and there are many happy ones at that. There is no incentive to save which equals that of the payment to be met on something which has contributed largely to the happiness of the members of a home.

What woman but will save on every corner to help meet the payment on her things that have been the means of her being able to utter lovingly the sweet word "home."

More Loss Than Gain

It is not as if all our young men and women who toil for their very existence were paid enough for their services to allow them to lay out large amounts in cash. In order to accumulate sufficient cash to buy anything of moment, they must necessarily spend much more in doing without the articles, and in this way there is more loss than gain.

Every business, even the largest commercial enterprise, is conducted on the principle of time payments. What merchant pays cash for his goods as a rule? The greatest of financiers deal largely upon a credit system.

It has been stated that those who do not pay cash are not strictly honest. This is no more true of the man who anticipates his income in buying furniture for his house than it is of the one who goes in debt for the food that he eats during the week, and this every one does who boards.

Benefit, Not a Curse

Far from being a curse to young people, and to all, in fact, who work on salary, the opportunity offered by the popular credit systems of to-day is of benefit to the many who could otherwise never realize what it means to have homes.

It is all very fine to have a bank account large enough to draw upon, but the fact remains the same that very few have this accumulation of cash, and I am not sure that, although they may have it, it might not be wiser to save it for the possible emergency and let the present income do the work of homemaking.

Buy Wisely

As a matter of course, the man or woman who buys on credit with plenty of cash at command is foolish, for there is no object to be gained in so doing, but these are not the people under consideration.

Buy wisely, and do not overload yourself with payments to be met. Leave a margin to your income so that, no matter what emergency may arise, you can meet it without failing in your other obligations, and you will not regret that you have undertaken through a credit scheme what you could not possibly have accomplished on the "pay as you go" plan.

It rests with the individual whether it is a success or a failure.

THOSE JEWELED HEELS!

JEWEL-STUDDED heels, opalescent beaded and cut work vamps, together with remarkable and elaborate combinations of kid and velvet, form the new features of the season's footwear. Never have there been noted such marked departure from stereotyped styles.

One of the most remarkable of these designs is worked out in beads of silver or gilt, with opalescent spangles. The pattern of the device in Louis XVI. style entirely covers the toe and extends around on either side of the slipper to the heel. The elaborate combination of leaves and bowknots, beautifully blended, makes the pumps most attractive. To add to their richness, the heels—exceedingly high ones—are covered with a gilt filigree work that harmonizes with the other decoration and shows off the slippers to advantage.

One of the stunning new styles in black velvet is comparatively plain, with no ornamentation except an imitation diamond solitaire at the instep or top of the slipper. This rhinestone is about one carat in weight and is faceted just like a diamond cut for a setting. It is fitted with a shank and sewed on like a button and is entirely practical for wear. The heels, however, are the parts that give the pumps the extraordinary appearance, for they are of gilt kid and by contrast decidedly striking.

Most of the slippers with jeweled heels have the rhinestones set in as they would be in a ring or a stud. Six or eight of these in a black velvet heel or in purple, or even red, are remarkable for the dazzling effect they give the feet in dancing or walking, when not entirely concealed by a long frock.

TWO GOOD THINGS TO KNOW

THERE are always small pieces of soap left in every household. Collect them, add half their weight in oatmeal; now put your soap into a saucepan with a little water to dissolve. Keep stirring till all is melted, then add the oatmeal, and when it is well mixed, turn it out onto a piece of wood to cool. Divide it into small cakes with a sharp knife, and leave it three or four days to thoroughly set before using.

THE best thing to make the hair curl is to beat up the yolk of a new-laid egg in a pint of warm rain water and bathe the hair with it just before retiring for the night. Partially dry with a rough towel and comb the hair in the morning with the fingers only. Or wash the hair in a solution of isinglass and curl it while wet; when undone it will curl permanently.

CLAIM COUSIN OF PRESIDENT STOLE BRIDE

Hunt "Jimmie" Roosevelt, Nephew John Jacob Astor, in Search for Missing Wife.

DIVORCE SUIT TO FOLLOW

By Boston American Leased Wire.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—James R. Roosevelt, Jr., was to-day charged with eloping with another man's bride. He is a cousin of the President and nephew of John Jacob Astor. Suit has been prepared against Roosevelt for $50,000 for alienation of the woman' affections. He will also be named in the husband's suit for divorce. Mrs. James R. Roosevelt, Jr., will probably make her husband defendant in a divorce action, naming the runaway bride.

With her the bride has many thousands of dollars' worth of jewelry which she told her friends the President's cousin had given her before she married Baller.

Has Astor Heirloom.

The most interesting gem in this collection is a gold heart studded with diamonds, rubies and sapphires. The bride told Baller that "Jimmie" Roosevelt gave it to her and said she must always keep it as it was a very precious heirloom in the Astor family. He said it had been handed down by the Astors from generation to generation for more than 250 years. Its intrinsic value, he said, was about $1,000.

"Jimmie" Roosevelt's father, James R. Roosevelt who died three years ago, was an uncle of President Roosevelt. He married Miss Helen Astor, a sister of John Jacob Astor, and the present "Jimmie" is her son.

Wedded Wife in Tenderloin.

A young man with a large income and no employment, young Roosevelt was led into the Tenderloin, and there took for his bride Sarah Meisinger. She is a beautiful woman, but without distinguished ancestors and no social position.

This marriage angered young Roosevelt's father, and he drew a new will, in which he disinherited his son. Just before his death he relented, however, and left "Jimmie" $500,000 in cash.

[illegible]ded to this the young man enjoys an [illegible]e of $15,000 a year from the estate [illegible]other, Helen Astor, left him many [illegible] ago.

[illegible]ller declares he attended a dance [illegible]tmas Eve in West One Hundred and [illegible]nteenth street and there he was intro[illegible] to Miss Hattie Moser by Mrs. Fran[illegible]leisinger.

[illegible]aller became smitten with Hattie Moser and accompanied her and her sister Blanche to the apartments they occupied at No. 12 West One Hundred and Ninth street. He called the next day and proposed marriage. He says that Miss Hattie told him he could have everything in the flat if he would marry her. They were married at noon Christmas Day by a notary.

Claims She Was Drugged.

Mrs. Harriet Moser-Baller, who is in seclusion to-day, made a statement to the manager of the One Hundred and Ninth street apartment house where she lived, in which she said:

"I met Mr. Baller only once, and that was at a dance on Christmas eve. We were with mutual friends, and in the hilarity of the occasion I sipped a glass of wine.

"It was most certainly drugged, as I remember nothing after that until the next morning, when I awakened and found a strange man in my apartments. At first I did not recognize him as the man to whom I had been introduced the night before.

"I nearly fainted when he showed me a marriage certificate showing that I had married him. I ordered him out of the house, and he is telling stories when he says he ever got back again while I was there. For five days he sat on the doorsteps, and then I went to my aunt in Bridgeport to get rid of him.

"Young Mr. Roosevelt has long been a friend of mine. When he heard of what a predicament I was in he made arrangements to take me away. But, of course, he did not want Baller to take the furniture out of the flat, and that is why Blanche remained behind. Mr. Roosevelt had been in the habit of taking me automobile riding nearly every day, and that accounts for us being seen so much together.

"Yes, I know he was married, but he was not happy."

BIG SUCCESS BY NEW ORCHESTRA

Boston's new orchestra, organized under the leadership of Wallace Goodrich to fill the gap between the big Symphony aggregation and the little chamber music organizations, is a success.

Its first concert was given last night in Jordan Hall, and the brilliant audience, composed largely of persons prominent socially as well as musically, made up in enthusiasm what it lacked in numbers. The throng was not small, but it ought to have been larger, and future audiences probably will be.

Taking into account that the members played together for the first time in public, and that rehearsals under Mr. Goodrich began only recently, the ensemble work of the men was remarkably good.

LABOR MEN PLAN GREAT WELCOME FOR MOFFETT

Distinguished Labor Leader Who Lectures tonight at Faneuil Hall on the "Open Shop."

Big Crowd in Faneuil Hall To-night to Listen to Municipal Ownership Chief.

Thousands of the representatives of organized labor in Greater Boston are preparing to crowd Faneuil Hall to-night when Edward A. Moffett, former editor of the Bricklayer and Mason and secretary of the Municipal Ownership Committee of the National Civic Federation, is to deliver a lecture on the "Open Shop."

Mr. Moffett, who is but thirty-seven years of age, a member of Bricklayers' Union No. 1 of Philadelphia, is one of the most forceful and eloquent speakers who represent the cause of organized labor today.

He was sent by the Isthmian Canal Commission to the Canal Zone in the Summer of 1905 to investigate the conditions of labor there. With the Committee on Investigation of Public Ownership of the National Civic Federation he sailed for Europe last May and returned to America in August, having visited Dublin, Newcastle-on-Tyne, Glasgow, Leicester, Sheffield, Birmingham, London, Liverpool and Norwich.

In his address to the labor organizations of Greater Boston to-night he will describe his trip abroad, the part being played in the political field by the trades unions, the political tendencies of the different groups of the people and their general condition the country over.

In the rooms of the Civic Federation of Boston Mr. Moffett last night gave a most interesting talk on economic questions. To the lecture to-night 1,500 invitations have been issued, but every member of a labor union and every friend of organized labor is urged to be present to-night. Mayor John F. Fitzgerald is to preside.

ARCHBISHOP OF SAN FRANCISCO DEAD

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 11.—Archbishop George Montgomery died yesterday afternoon. The Archbishop was operated on for appendicitis a few days ago. He was born in 1847.

SHAW ADDRESS AT CONCORD.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—Secretary Shaw will address the Board of Trade of Concord, N. H., January 30.

SIXTY MORE CASES OF FEVER TO-DAY

To make room at the City Hospital for the new cases every adult patient there in proper physical condition will be taken to Gallup's Island. Dr. John H. McCollom, in charge of the South Department, and his assistants are now obliged to work night and day, so rapidly is the spread of the disease.

Health Board Baffled.

The Health Department admits that it cannot account for the sudden and terrible onset of the disease at this time. Every clue has been traced with great care and particular attention has been paid to the milk supply, but the department admits that it is baffled. Where ordinarily the average number of daily cases is from one-half to one, now they are appearing at the rate of fifty daily and the figures are mounting every day.

In Boston the department has taken particular care not to alarm the people, every case that could be accommodated being removed to the hospital so as to avoid plastering the city with "scarlet fever" placards and arousing alarm. It is owing to this that the hospital is overcrowded at present. Yesterday and to-day the eighty medical inspectors in the over 200 public schools have been making a careful examination of every child, with a view to isolation if any evidence of the disease is found.

Greater Boston is suffering just as badly almost, in proportion. In Somerville twenty-one cases have been reported and in Malden the same number, while Cambridge has developed over seventy-five cases within three days.

Close School in Everett.

The epidemic in Everett, where twenty-one cases were reported, has necessitated the closing of the Winslow School. It will remain closed until the epidemic has abated.

Four cases were reported up to last night in the Perkins Institute for the Blind, South Boston. The officials have taken vigorous measures to prevent its spread. In Somerville two of the patients are substitute school teachers and the School Board is seriously considering closing the schools. The Somerville Hospital is crowded, one of the patients being taken there from Cambridge.

In Cambridge the School Board has called a special meeting to consider closing the schools.

In Boston the worst of the epidemic is in the West End, the North and South ends suffering more lightly, while in the outskirts, up to to-day, very few cases had been reported.

Durgin Makes Statement.

Dr. Samuel H. Durgin, chairman of the Boston Board of Health, when seen by a BOSTON AMERICAN reporter dictated the following:

"This is a very large and sudden onset of scarlet fever, the increase having been particularly rapid within the past forty-eight hours, during which time we have had 105 cases reported. The increase has been particularly in the West End, it being lighter in the North and South ends and very moderate, practically none in the suburban districts.

"The increase is largely attributable to cases which are so mild in type as to be unrecognizable and without confinement of such persons in their homes. We have traced different clues with great care and particularly in regard to the milk supply, but as yet without satisfaction. We have our whole force of physicians looking for possible cases in the schools and the isolation of cases left in the homes."

$25,000 FIRE DAMAGE.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Jan. 11.—One of the worst fires in years in this city broke out early to-day in the plant of the Democratic News. The loss will probably reach $25,000.

'WHITE HOUSE' CLUB TO DANCE

The "White House Club," composed of employes of the Timothy Smith Company, will hold its tenth annual ball in Catholic Union Hall Tuesday evening, January 15.

The club takes its name from the Timothy Smith white buildings which are known as the "White House Extension."

The floor will be under the direction of C. L. Wentworth, assisted by A. M. McKenzie and J. Mahoney. The officers of the club are: President, Channing L. Wentworth; vice-president, Alexander M. McKenzie; secretary, Martin A. Earl; treasurer, Louis L. Fitzgerald.

It is the intention to decorate the hall more beautifully than in previous years in recognition of their "tenth birthday anniversary."

Biggest Purchase Yet

Entire Suit and Overcoat Stock of Harris Bros., New York

Here is still another merchandising triumph to add to our already brilliant list of masterly achievements—a triumph that will demonstrate with greater emphasis than ever before our right to call this store "The Home of Low Prices." At no time in our history have we been able to offer such high-class merchandise at prices so far below its actual value.

Harris Brothers' clothing is sold by all the leading clothiers in America and it is universally acknowledged to be the top notch of the better grades of popular priced clothing in this country. Worth was never more pronounced than now. Every department is holding outstretched hands of unequalled price inducements. Make it a point to come today.

The Overcoats

Here are values no prudent man will ignore if he wants an overcoat or can find use for an extra one. There are times when it's wiser to spend money than to save it—this is one of those times.

$8.50 Overcoats . $5

CLAIM COUSIN OF PRESIDENT STOLE BRIDE

Hunt "Jimmie" Roosevelt, Nephew John Jacob Astor, in Search for Missing Wife.

DIVORCE SUIT TO FOLLOW

By Boston American Leased Wire.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—James R. Roosevelt, Jr., was to-day charged with eloping with another man's bride. He is a cousin of the President and nephew of John Jacob Astor. Suit has been prepared against Roosevelt for $50,000 for alienation of the woman' affections. He will also be named in the husband's suit for divorce. Mrs. James R. Roosevelt, Jr., will probably make her husband defendant in a divorce action, naming the runaway bride.

With her the bride has many thousands of dollars' worth of jewelry which she told her friends the President's cousin had given her before she married Baller.

Has Astor Heirloom.

The most interesting gem in this collection is a gold heart studded with diamonds, rubies and sapphires. The bride told Baller that "Jimmie" Roosevelt gave it to her and said she must always keep it as it was a very precious heirloom in the Astor family. He said it had been handed down by the Astors from generation to generation for more than 250 years. Its intrinsic value, he said, was about $1,000.

"Jimmie" Roosevelt's father, James R. Roosevelt who died three years ago, was an uncle of President Roosevelt. He married Miss Helen Astor, a sister of John Jacob Astor, and the present "Jimmie" is her son.

Wedded Wife in Tenderloin.

A young man with a large income and no employment, young Roosevelt was led into the Tenderloin, and there took for his bride Sarah Meisinger. She is a beautiful woman, but without distinguished ancestors and no social position.

This marriage angered young Roosevelt's father, and he drew a new will, in which he disinherited his son. Just before his death he relented, however, and left "Jimmie" $500,000 in cash.

[illegible]led to this the young man enjoys an [illegible]e of $15,000 a year from the estate [illegible]other, Helen Astor, left him many [illegible] ago.

[illegible]ller declares he attended a dance [illegible]tmas Eve in West One Hundred and [illegible]nteenth street and there he was intro[illegible] to Miss Hattie Moser by Mrs. Fran[illegible] Meisinger.

[illegible]aller became smitten with Hattie Moser and accompanied her and her sister Blanche to the apartments they occupied at No. 12 West One Hundred and Ninth street. He called the next day and proposed marriage. He says that Miss Hattie told him he could have everything in the flat if he would marry her. They were married at noon Christmas Day by a notary.

Claims She Was Drugged.

Mrs. Harriet Moser-Baller, who is in seclusion to-day, made a statement to the manager of the One Hundred and Ninth street apartment house where she lived, in which she said:

"I met Mr. Baller only once, and that was at a dance on Christmas eve. We were with mutual friends, and in the hilarity of the occasion I sipped a glass of wine.

"It was most certainly drugged, as I remember nothing after that until the next morning, when I awakened and found a strange man in my apartments. At first I did not recognize him as the man to whom I had been introduced the night before.

"I nearly fainted when he showed me a marriage certificate showing that I had married him. I ordered him out of the house, and he is telling stories when he says he ever got back again while I was there. For five days he sat on the doorsteps, and then I went to my aunt in Bridgeport to get rid of him.

"Young Mr. Roosevelt has long been a friend of mine. When he heard of what a predicament I was in he made arrangements to take me away. But, of course, he did not want Baller to take the furniture out of the flat, and that is why Blanche remained behind. Mr. Roosevelt had been in the habit of taking me automobile riding nearly every day, and that accounts for us being seen so much together.

"Yes, I know he was married, but he was not happy."

BIG SUCCESS BY NEW ORCHESTRA

Boston's new orchestra, organized under the leadership of Wallace Goodrich to fill the gap between the big Symphony aggregation and the little chamber music organizations, is a success.

Its first concert was given last night in Jordan Hall, and the brilliant audience, composed largely of persons prominent socially as well as musically, made up in enthusiasm what it lacked in numbers. The throng was not small, but it ought to have been larger, and future audiences probably will be.

Taking into account that the members played together for the first time in public, and that rehearsals under Mr. Goodrich began only recently, the ensemble work of the men was remarkably good.

SHUT DOWN ON PASSES.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Jan. 11.—Members of the Legislature from this district today received letters from the railroads stating that applications for passes would be honored, but that none would be issued otherwise.

LABOR MEN PLAN GREAT WELCOME FOR MOFFETT

Distinguished Labor Leader Who Lectures tonight at Faneuil Hall on the "Open Shop."

Big Crowd in Faneuil Hall To-night to Listen to Municipal Ownership Chief.

Thousands of the representatives of organized labor in Greater Boston are preparing to crowd Faneuil Hall to-night when Edward A. Moffett, former editor of the Bricklayer and Mason and secretary of the Municipal Ownership Committee of the National Civic Federation, is to deliver a lecture on the "Open Shop."

Mr. Moffett, who is but thirty-seven years of age, a member of Bricklayers' Union No. 1 of Philadelphia, is one of the most forceful and eloquent speakers who represent the cause of organized labor today.

He was sent by the Isthmian Canal Commission to the Canal Zone in the Summer of 1905 to investigate the conditions of labor there. With the Committee on Investigation of Public Ownership of the National Civic Federation he sailed for Europe last May and returned to America in August, having visited Dublin, Newcastle-on-Tyne, Glasgow, Leicester, Sheffield, Birmingham, London, Liverpool and Norwich.

In his address to the labor organizations of Greater Boston to-night he will describe his trip abroad, the part being played in the political field by the trades unions, the political tendencies of the different groups of the people and their general condition the country over.

In the rooms of the Civic Federation of Boston Mr. Moffett last night gave a most interesting talk on economic questions. To the lecture to-night 1,500 invitations have been issued, but every member of a labor union and every friend of organized labor is urged to be present to-night. Mayor John F. Fitzgerald is to preside.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—Secretary Shaw will address the Board of Trade of Concord, N. H., January 30.

SIXTY MORE CASES OF FEVER TO-DAY

To make room at the City Hospital for the new cases every adult patient there in proper physical condition will be taken to Gallup's Island. Dr. John H. McCollom, in charge of the South Department, and his assistants are now obliged to work night and day, so rapidly is the spread of the disease.

Health Board Baffled.

The Health Department admits that it cannot account for the sudden and terrible onset of the disease at this time. Every clue has been traced with great care and particular attention has been paid to the milk supply, but the department admits that it is baffled. Where ordinarily the average number of daily cases is from one-half to one, now they are appearing at the rate of fifty daily and the figures are mounting every day.

In Boston the department has taken particular care not to alarm the people, every case that could be accommodated being removed to the hospital so as to avoid plastering the city with "scarlet fever" placards and arousing alarm. It is owing to this that the hospital is overcrowded at present. Yesterday and to-day the eighty medical inspectors in the over 200 public schools have been making a careful examination of every child, with a view to isolation if any evidence of the disease is found.

Greater Boston is suffering just as badly almost, in proportion. In Somerville twenty-one cases have been reported and in Malden the same number, while Cambridge has developed over seventy-five cases within three days.

Close School in Everett.

The epidemic in Everett, where twenty-one cases were reported, has necessitated the closing of the Winslow School. It will remain closed until the epidemic has abated.

Four cases were reported up to last night in the Perkins Institute for the Blind, South Boston. The officials have taken vigorous measures to prevent its spread. In Somerville two of the patients are substitute school teachers and the School Board is seriously considering closing the schools. The Somerville Hospital is crowded, one of the patients being taken there from Cambridge.

In Cambridge the School Board has called a special meeting to consider closing the schools.

In Boston the worst of the epidemic is in the West End, the North and South ends suffering more lightly, while in the outskirts, up to to-day, very few cases had been reported.

Durgin Makes Statement.

Dr. Samuel H. Durgin, chairman of the Boston Board of Health, when seen by a BOSTON AMERICAN reporter dictated the following:

"This is a very large and sudden onset of scarlet fever, the increase having been particularly rapid within the past forty-eight hours, during which time we have had 105 cases reported. The increase has been particularly in the West End, it being lighter in the North and South ends and very moderate, practically none in the suburban districts.

"The increase is largely attributable to cases which are so mild in type as to be unrecognizable and without confinement of such persons in their homes. We have traced different clues with great care and particularly in regard to the milk supply, but as yet without satisfaction. We have our whole force of physicians looking for possible cases in the schools and the isolation of cases left in the homes."

$25,000 FIRE DAMAGE.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Jan. 11.—One of the worst fires in years in this city broke out early to-day in the plant of the Democratic News. The loss will probably reach $25,000.

'WHITE HOUSE' CLUB TO DANCE

The "White House Club," composed of employes of the Timothy Smith Company, will hold its tenth annual ball in Catholic Union Hall Tuesday evening, January 15.

The club takes its name from the Timothy Smith white buildings which are known as the "White House Extension."

The floor will be under the direction of C. L. Wentworth, assisted by A. M. McKenzie and J. Mahoney. The officers of the club are: President, Channing L. Wentworth; vice-president, Alexander M. McKenzie; secretary, Martin A. Earl; treasurer, Louis L. Fitzgerald.

It is the intention to decorate the hall more beautifully than in previous years in recognition of their "tenth birthday anniversary."

Entire Suit and Overcoat Stock of Harris Bros., New York

Here is still another merchandising triumph to add to our already brilliant list of masterly achievements—a triumph that will demonstrate with greater emphasis than ever before our right to call this store "The Home of Low Prices." At no time in our history have we been able to offer such high-class merchandise at prices so far below its actual value.

Harris Brothers' clothing is sold by all the leading clothiers in America and it is universally acknowledged to be the top notch of the better grades of popular priced clothing in this country. Worth was never more pronounced than now. Every department is holding outstretched hands of unequalled price inducements. Make it a point to come today.

HARRIS BROS.

FARMER JIM JEFFRIES AT HIS BUCOLIC PURSUITS, AS HE IMPRESSED A BOSTON AMERICAN CARTOONIST

BILL SQUIRES MAY MEET JACK O'BRIEN ON COAST

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 11.—Bill Squires, the Australian heavyweight, probably will fight before the Pacific Athletic Club of Los Angeles. A cablegram was received by the Examiner last night asking for further information in regard to the calling off of the Jeffries match and asking that a match be arranged with O'Brien.

The cable received is in answer to a cable sent by the Examiner, which read:

"Jeffries refuses. Name minimum sum fight America," and the reply reads: "Melbourne, Jan. 10. To the Examiner, Los Angeles. Amount of claim is $1,500. Why was match cancelled? Arrange if possible O'Brien-Squires."

Manager McCarey of the Pacific Athletic Club said: "I will give Squires a match in Los Angeles in March or April with O'Brien if he can leave Melbourne as originally planned, January 28.

"According to the arrangement made between Burns and O'Brien, O'Brien has the privilege of meeting one man between now and the Fiesta battle, although if he loses that fight the winner will be given the opportunity of meeting Burns for the $30,000 purse.

"If the O'Brien-Squires mill cannot be arranged for March or April, I stand ready to match Squires with the winner on July Fourth."

Besides Giving Fraser, Herrmann

OFFERS $10,000 FOR CUB

CINCINNATI, Jan. 11.—"I'll give from $5,000 to $10,000 and Pitcher Jack Fraser for one of your seasoned players," was the financial bolt that President Herrmann of the Cincinnati club hurled at President Murphy of the Chicago club at the Hotel Havlin.

The discussion had been around Pitcher Fraser, whom Chicago wants, and whom Cincinnati is willing to part with without going into thirty days of mourning. Murphy had offered Mr. Herrmann a battery of youngsters for the clever twirler, when President Herrman swung heavily and landed his big financial proposition.

"I know," continued Mr. Herrmann, "that you couldn't afford to part with men like Chance, Kling, Brown and one or two others; but there are veterans on your team who would help us out and who at the same time would not be missed by Chicago, for the reason that you have more talent than you really need. Make out a list of these men that you think you can spare and I'll make you a proposition for one of them, naming Fraser and a sum of money ranging from $5,000 to $10,000 as the Cincinnati end of the deal."

Murphy, after a moment's reflection, said: "I don't believe I can part with any of my veteran players. I'm willing to give you a battery of the best youngsters I've picked up for trial next season in exchange for Fraser, but that's as far as I'm prepared to trade at present."

"Well," said Herrmann, "think it over and give me an answer some time Monday. I will not consider the youngster proposition, but if you'll take money and Fraser for one of your regulars I'll be there with the cash and the man."

COLUMBIA CREWS USE MIRROR IN TRAINING

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—Coach Rice of the Columbia crews has added to the regular paraphernalia a large mirror, which Rice expects to prove advantageous in eradicating individual faults. The mirror is arranged to slide on casters, so that the oarsman can see himself from almost any position.

Coach Rice expressed himself as being in favor of the plan to introduce a race for centipede fours in addition to the other contests at Poughkeepsie. Ward of Pennsylvania is the particular advocate of this plan, and has sent letters to the other coaches asking for their co-operation. Courtney of Cornell is known to be opposed to the idea. Ten Eyck of Syracuse is expected to favor it, so that it is thought at least three entries can be obtained. If there are three centipede crews that desire to row the rowing stewards have signified their intention of permitting the race.

Rice favors the centipede style because of the advantage it offers in developing men for the sweeps. Whether he enters a crew at Poughkeepsie or not, he will have all of his crews at work in centipedes for a time in the Spring for the training in watermanship.

The preliminary work until February 1 will be light—principally for the freshmen and the eradication of glaring individual faults. After February 1 the indoor work will be supplemented by long runs calculated to develop endurance.

The schedule this year will include the usual races. All the crews on the water will be entered in the Harlem regatta on Memorial Day. Late in May the varsity crew will go to Annapolis to meet the midshipmen, and earlier in the season the freshmen will meet the Yale youngsters on Lake Whitney. The intercollegiate race will take place at Poughkeepsie on June 26.

ALL READY FOR THE BIG NEW YORK AUTO SHOW

BY J. C. KERRISON.

There is a pretty good show on now at Madison Square Garden, although the box office is closed and the public is not admitted for price or pass. The scene inside the Garden now is one well worth the usual price of admission. It is the work of preparing the Garden for the seventh national automobile show, which opens Saturday night, under the auspices of the Association of Licensed Automobile Manufacturers.

The preparatory work has really been in progress for three weeks, but it is now at its height, and a couple of hundred men are swarming the garden, busy at all sorts of interesting work from dome to cellar. Week before last the flooring was laid, and the elevated platform and mezzanine platform were erected, over the arena boxes and seats. These were used for the poultry show. Last week while the roosters and hens were crowing and cackling on the main floor, the men were at work in the cellar, cleaning and painting and covering the walls and pillars with paintings and tapestries. The work on the rathskeller in the basement was begun last week, also, and it is now about completed.

The rathskeller is going to be quite a wonderful part of the show. It is sixty-five feet long and built of imitation rock like a grotto. In many details it is a reproduction of the famous rathskeller at Weisenbaden. Inside the ceiling is made up of grapevines, with the grapes electrically illuminated and all the lights are shaded by natural grass. There is a three-foot frieze of embossed and hand-tooled Spanish leather above a seven-foot wainscoting, and from the floor one seems to look out through open windows upon vistas of German scenery.

* * *

The seventh annual automobile show of the Automobile Club of America closed its doors at the Grand Central Palace on December 8, only a month ago. Owing to the marked success of the show, which was participated in by the members of the American Motor Car Manufacturers' Association and the Motor & Accessory Manufacturers, and open to automobile manufacturers the world over without restriction of any kind, the exhibition committee of the Automobile Club of America has been able to reach a speedy financial settlement, and in accordance with its policy of profit-sharing with the exhibitors is to-day refunding to them one-half of the net proceeds of the show, amounting to 45.40 per cent. on the amount of space rental paid by each exhibitor.

This is a larger refund than has ever been made to exhibitors in any automobile show ever held in America.

So creditable an outcome immediately justifies the contention of the promoters of the early, open show, and [illegible] upon it the undoubted stamp [illegible] both the general and auto[illegible]

Hyland Has a Jab, Then Gans Hands One Over

TWO KNOCKS FOR BRITT

Jimmy Britt, who is now under the management of Jimmy Coffroth of San Francisco, will be the next man to face Joe Gans. In the mean time, Fighting Dick Hyland is camping on James Edward's trail and wants the one-time light-weight champion to fight him for a $20,000 purse offered by Rhyolite promoters.

Pooh Pooh for Britt.

Sammy McClintic, manager for Hyland, pooh poohs Britt's aspirations for a go with Gans, and says: "We are after Britt and hope the big four-flusher will come through and show the public that he will fight at least one fight on the square. What license has he to attempt to dictate terms to us? He has not done a thing for two years, and Hyland has been winning right along.

"He couldn't lick Corbett in twenty rounds, and had to have a referee to help him even to get a decision. Hyland put Corbett away in five rounds, and didn't need a referee at that. Britt could not be pulled into the same ring with Hanlon for fear of a beating, and Hyland cleaned Eddie in thirteen rounds, and there was no referee helping Dick, either. Possibly Britt is afraid that if he went to Rhyolite to fight Hyland he would have to fight on the square, with no referee to help or a chance to make Hyland lay down to him. They can't show a shady spot on Hyland's record, and he has never been mixed up in any such scandal as Britt was in the Gans-Britt fiasco.

"If he can make the weight (133 pounds ringside) for Nelson or Gans, why can't he make the weight for Hyland for a $20,000 purse in Rhyolite? What more can a man in his present position ask? The public is on to him and won't stand any more of his importations, principally that of Jabez White, a man old enough to be his father, and he couldn't land him at that until the twentieth round, when White went down more from exhaustion than a punch.

Hylands Wants to Go.

"Hyland left his home to get a reputation for himself and did not make any part of it on a "Native Son" proposition. We are waiting to hear from Britt, and if he refuses this good chance Dick will box any man in the world at 130 pounds, or Britt at 133."

Joe Gans doesn't think very much of the fighting qualities of Jimmy Britt.

"I have met the toughest men that pugilism has discovered in the last fifteen years," said the champion, "and have come out of my battles with colors flying. This is no exception. I will beat Britt, and my task will be much easier than it was in my fight with Herman. If the fight goes over six rounds I will be the most surprised fighter in the world. I am sure I can knock out Jimmy in four rounds."

Gans More Popular.

The dusky fighter is breaking all records at the Trocadero in Chicago this week, the crowds being turned away in droves every night and afternoon, and it is likely that Gans will be induced to stay over next week and possibly the week after if the crush keeps up its present dimensions.

His bout with the original Kid Farmer is one of the fastest that has ever been seen here. Gans is a past master of boxing and makes Farmer go at top speed from start to finish of their three-round exhibition.

PACER DARIUS TO BE SENT ABROAD

Frank Wallingford, the local horseman, has bought the prominent pacing gelding Darius, 2:09, for export to England. Included in the deal was the entire outfit of sulky, clothing, boots, etc.

For several seasons Darius has been campaigned with success over the New England tracks. Early in his career he was thought to be tied up with a record slower than 2:15, but Trainer Will Bowser got hold of the gelding at a bargain price, and proved to the public that in getting speed out of the black demon he held a better key than had his former handler.

Under the restrictions the English authorities have placed on fast pacers from this country Darius is eligible to compete against their fastest. Louis Winans of England came over here in 1905 and bought a number of free-for-all pacers to campaign, but when he got them home found a rule had been passed forbidden American pacers with records of 2:07 or better competing in the races. The result was that after keeping his pacers there through last season without a chance of racing them he had his trainer, A. C. Pennock, ship them back to America last Fall.

SHEPPARD MAY TACKLE RECORD

Melvin Sheppard, the fast New York middle-distance runner, is desirous of attacking Tom Burke's 600-yard run record of 1:11 at the B. A. A. big indoor meet February 16. He has challenged Harry Hillman, recently dropped by the New York Athletic Club, and E. B. Parsons of Yale, and has asked the B. A. A. to make a special match for the big carnival. If the club authorities were sure Parsons and Hillman would meet Sheppard, the match would undoubtedly be made. Sheppard told George V. Brown, athletic manager of the B. A. A., that the Lon Meyers prize put up by Gus L. Sachs at the Pastime A. C. games is not for anybody who should happen to break the record, but for him if he should have that luck.

CLINTON AND MURRAY DRAW

LOWELL, Jan. 11.—Billy Clinton of this city and George Murray of Lynn fought twelve rounds to a draw here at the Spindle City A. C. last night. In the first round it looked as if Murray would win in short order and the gong saved Clinton from utter and quick defeat. In the second Billy was all but out again when the gong sounded. Murray was very clever and went at Clinton fast and speedily, shooting lefts onto Billy's face and nose in bewildering rapidity.

Clinton did fairly well in the third and fourth rounds and then held his own in the fifth, sixth and seventh, and had the best of it as the bout progressed further.

In the semi-final Freddy O'Brien of Chelsea won from Kid Wright of Boston.

BURNS WALLOPS JOE GRIM IN A SHORT ROUND

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Jan. 11.—Tommy Burns, who fought the notable 20-round battle with Jack O'Brien, practically made Joe Grim, the Italian champion, quit in a three-round bout at the Lyceum Theatre last night. Grim had signed a contract to box the Canadian three rounds of three minutes each. Before going into the ring he insisted that the rounds be cut to one minute each. Burns and the management finally agreed and Grim received a great lacing for his unsportmanlike act. In fact, he laid down before the third round was over without being struck. Burns caught him with a short right hand swing on the cheekbone in the first round and Grim took the full count. He was down again with a punch on the jaw and before the minute was up dropped down without being struck. He was dropped twice in the second round with upper cuts and twice in the third round with swings on the jaw. Before the bell rang he went down on his knees without being struck. In the 1 minute and 30 seconds of actual fighting Grim got all that was coming to him, but saved himself from a knockout.

"The Ghost of Lochrain Castle" is one of the most thrilling stories ever written. It is a tale of love, romance, dark intrigue and startling adventure. Read this great serial in the BOSTON SUNDAY AMERICAN.

COMISKEY PRAISES COLLINS

CHICAGO, Jan. 11.—President John I. Taylor of the Boston Americans hasn't been able to close any deals with the Washington club for either Jake Stahl or Hildebrand.

"Boston is pretty well taken care of as far as first basemen are concerned, still Stahl would add some strength to the team," said Mr. Taylor.

"We offered to give Grimshaw to Washington for Stahl, but that offer was turned down. Grimshaw hit .290 for us last year, or nearly 70 points higher than Stahl, but Jake would help our infield more, and that is why we want him.

"However, the first base angle is not giving us any worry. If we get Stahl, all right; and if we don't, all right. Grimshaw is a capable man, and Unglaub, the utility player, is also available as a first baseman."

Mr. Taylor met President Comiskey of the world's champions during the day, and the "Old Roman" expressed the opinion that Boston would be a big factor in the race next season if Collins and Criger are in shape.

"When I read some of the offers made for Collins last December it made me ashamed to think I ever was a ball player," said Comiskey. "You couldn't replace Collins in five years, in all probability. He's of the very highest class as a ball player, with no superiors in his difficult position. If a player of Collins's ability is to be traded for a couple of minor leaguers I want to get out of the business."

Mr. Comiskey assured the Boston president that no one was pulling harder for the success of the Boston Club than he himself.

MONDAY'S SHOPPING PICTURE IDENTIFIED

Original of Little Snapshot Is Visitor to Boston From Portland, Me.

THE snapshot of a woman shopper published Monday was identified yesterday by Miss Bessie Jackson, of No. 76 Winter street, Portland, Me.

The young woman was on a visit to friends in Boston when the Camera Man caught her photo in front of Siegel's store, near the main entrance on Washington street.

Her attention was called to the printed picture by friends and the identification was established. She received the award of $2 which is offered daily for identification of one of these pictures.

Moral—Whether you come from Maine of Missouri the Camera Man is apt to get you any day in the shopping district.

The Original of This Snapshot Will Receive a Prize of $2.

NEWS OF LABOR.

96

The Carpenters' District Council of Boston and vicinity dedicated its new quarters at No. 30 Hanover street last night with an entertainment and collation and addresses by Mayor Fitzgerald and prominent labor leaders. The two large halls and various offices were filled to overflowing with delegations from the thirty-two affiliated local unions and branches of the Council.

The meeting was called to order by President William D. McIntosh, who introduced Business Agent John E. Potts of Boston Carpenters' Union No. 33 as the presiding officer. Other speakers besides the Mayor were T. M. Guerin of Troy, vice-president of the International Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners; General Organizer George M. Murray of New York, Schoolhouse Commissioner Charles Logue, Secretary-Treasurer Dennis D. Driscoll of the State Branch, A. F. of L.; Business Agent John T. Cashman of the Building Trades Council, Business Agent Colin M. Cameron and Secretary Arthur M. Watson of the Carpenters' District Council, Business Agent Walter Pratt of the Brockton Carpenters' Union and Business Agent S. F. McArthur of the Cambridge Carpenters' Union.

AID FOR PRINTERS' HOME.

Manager Harry N. Farren of the Columbia has made a novel proposition to the members of Boston Typographical Union No. 13, which was instantly accepted by that body. He has set apart next Wednesday evening as Printers' Night at his playhouse, and will give forty per cent. of the proceeds of the tickets sold by the printers to be added to the Amos Cummings Memorial Fund, which fund is being used in erecting an addition to the Printers' Home in Colorado Springs. The way in which the different newspaper and book and job chapels are hustling promises to make the affair a huge financial and social success.

MOFFETT SPEAKS TO-NIGHT.

Nearly every union in Greater Boston will be represented at the public mass-meeting to-night in Faneuil Hall under the auspices of the Bricklayers and Masons' unions to hear Edward A. Moffett of New York speak on the "Open Shop." Mr. Moffet is ex-editor of the Bricklayer and Mason, and secretary of the municipal ownership committee of the National Civic Federation. Mayor Fitzgerald will preside. The balcony will be reserved for ladies and escorts. Invitations have been extended the master bricklayers to attend.

NEWTON WOMEN ORGANIZE.

The Woman's Auxiliary of West Newton Carpenters' Union will conduct a party to-night in A. O. U. W. Hall, West Newton. This is the first social event to be held by the organization, which was formed about two months ago with thirty members. The membership has since been increased to one hundred. It is composed of the wives and daughters of West Newton carpenters. To-night's event will be attended by officers and members of the Newton Carpenters' District Council and many of the officers of the Boston District Council and Boston unions.

LABOR NOTES.

Cigarmakers' Union No. 97 will install officers to-night and consider an amendment to hold weekly meetings of the union.

Business Agent S. M. Lent of the Pattern Makers' Association will address a meeting of the Worcester organization next Tuesday night.

The Brockton Central Labor Union has unanimously indorsed Dennis D. Driscoll for appointment to the State Board of Conciliation and Arbitration.

The Waiters' Benevolent Association will hold its forty-fourth annual concert and ball in Paul Revere Hall, Wednesday, January 23.

Brass Workers' Union No. 55 will elect delegates to the Boston Central Labor Union at the close of the installation of officers at to-night's meeting.

Beginning next Monday night, East Boston Wharf and Bridge Builders' Union No. 1,393 will meet at No. 30 Hanover street every Monday evening.

The book and job branch of the Typographical Union meets to-night at No. 45 Eliot street to elect officers and complete arrangements for the anniversary party to celebrate the inauguration of the eight-hour day, to be held Wednesday evening, February 6, at Berkeley Hall.

AMERICAN GIVES THEATRE TICKETS FREE

Twenty Pairs, Forty Seats In All, to Winners of Inverted Word Contest.

READ HERE HOW TO TRY

Have you been to the theatre yet as a guest of the BOSTON AMERICAN?

Many readers of the AMERICAN have won free theatre tickets in the "inverted word" competition. Why don't you try your skill at this entertaining diversion?

The contest is one of quickness of eyesight and ability to pick out inverted words in a collection of classified advertisements. In next Sunday's BOSTON AMERICAN certain words in the classified advertisements are printed inverted, that is, upside down. These words, properly arranged, form a familiar quotation which is announced in the BOSTON SUNDAY AMERICAN.

If you wish to try for the theatre ticket prizes, pick out the inverted words as soon as you get your BOSTON SUNDAY AMERICAN. Arrange the words in their proper order to form the quotation. Give the name of the advertiser in which every inverted word appears, also the class of advertising. Send the whole to the BOSTON AMERICAN office.

The first twenty best lists will each win a prize of two theatre tickets. Forty tickets in all are given away free by the BOSTON AMERICAN as prizes in this contest.

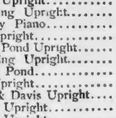

If you like to go to the theatre, if you would like to go free of cost, and if you think you can detect a word printed upside down, why not try your chance in the inverted word contest?

Go to the Paul Morton, Thou Harriman;

Consider His Ways and Be Wise

The heading of this article, dear readers and railroad men, is a paraphrase of the old advice, "Go to the ant, thou sluggard; consider her ways and be wise."

We have various great railroad men in this country. Some are proud, self-reliant—like poor, foolish Mr. Harriman—and they get in trouble with our ruler, Mr. Roosevelt. Others are humble, subtle, wise, like Mr. Paul Morton. And they can break the railroad laws if they like.

It is amusing to see Mr. Paul Morton, graduate of an office in which he confessed to breaking the law as a railroad man, then put into the Cabinet of the United States by Mr. Roosevelt, then made head of the Equitable Life Assurance Society by Mr. Ryan, WHO WANTED SOMEBODY WHO UNDERSTOOD MR. ROOSEVELT.

It is interesting to study Mr. Harriman, the gentleman who dared to think that he could manage his own affairs in his own way, THAT HE COULD EVEN BE INDEPENDENT IN POLITICS, and associate with Odell if he wanted to.

Mr. Morton, although he broke the law and ADMITTED it, is now the happy, well-paid employe of Thomas F. Ryan, also the whitewashed White House darling.

And Mr. Harriman, who interfered with the Washington scheme to control New York State, finds himself thoroughly investigated by the United States Government. He finds that for Mr. Paul Morton to break a railroad law and for Mr. Harriman to break it are two very different things.

The citizens of the United States, who look on, discover that Tweedle-dee-Harriman and Tweedle-dee-Morton are widely separated. It makes a great difference whether you know enough to be humble, and useful to the ruler, or whether you are foolish enough to think that you can paddle your own canoe and be an independent Harriman.

How interesting it would be for the ordinary little citizen of the country if he could get behind the scenes and know what is back of all these big fights! There was a gentleman named Paul Morton and another named Shonts, who between them ran a nice railroad gambling speculation called the Four Leaf Clover scheme in Chicago. They let in the right people, and they set themselves "Right." One of them, Mr. Shonts, is the manager of the Panama Canal. He can make plenty of money down there dealing out the contracts, if he cares to. He can be very useful to his railroad friends BY DELAYING THE CANAL, IF HE CHOOSES TO.

The other one, Mr. Morton, has been rented out to Mr. Ryan at a very high salary. And he can prove his utility to Mr. Ryan, IN THE PRESENT ATTACK ON HARRIMAN, WHO IS MR. RYAN'S CHIEF CONFESSED ENEMY.

Naturally, nobody will regret an exposure of anything that Harriman has done. If he has wickedly been trying to buy the United States, regardless of Thomas F. Ryan's prior claim, it is well that he be exposed. The more exposure the better.

But when the history of these days comes to be written, it will be extremely interesting to know just what it was all about.

We hope that history will not fail to give proper credit to that astute gentleman, Thomas F. Ryan.

He is not very intellectual to look at. He is tall, and drowsy, and pretends not to know what is going on.

BUT DOESN'T HE KNOW WHAT IS GOING ON? You may be sure he DOES.

As soon as he saw that Paul Morton was the kind of a man that Mr. Roosevelt loved, THE KIND OF A MAN THAT COULD BE WHITEWASHED AFTER CONFESSING THAT HE HAD BROKEN THE LAW, didn't Ryan hastily hire Morton, putting him on the policy-holders' payroll? Yes, yes.

And didn't Harriman, Ryan's enemy, get into trouble right away?

And isn't Shonts, the Morton bosom friend, the man who is going to spend the hundreds of millions of dollars down at Panama?

And doesn't Mr. Ryan like to be closely connected with schemes for spending hundreds of millions of dollars?

Yes, he does.

Poor Mr. Harriman, he was pretty intelligent about buying up railroads. It seems that he could put in a hundred million of dollars and almost forget where it went.

But there are human things that he did not know enough to buy. There are other human things that he did not know enough to kow-tow to.

And if he finds himself punished, and harassed, and investigated, and driven this way and that, while Mr. Paul Morton gets his salary, and Mr. Shonts gets the contracts, and Mr. Ryan gets the money and revenge, HARRIMAN HAS NOBODY TO BLAME BUT HIMSELF.

In this magnificent republic you mustn't be such a fool as to ignore THE MAN WHO HAS THE POWER AND USES IT.

If you DO, you will be investigated and you will be convicted of race-suicide or lese majeste, or worse.

How Edison Electric Light Charges Vary

By Frank Parsons, Ph.D.

THE Boston Edison Company's prices for electricity range from two and one-half cents per kilowatt per hour up to fifteen cents on small amounts, and even the old price of twenty cents is retained as the basis of one form of contract with five cents as a secondary rate for the hours of use beyond the guaranteed 300.

The rates work out to final charges running from three cents a kilowatt for some big customers up to fifteen cents or more for some small men.

That this wide divergence of charges is not necessary in the electric business is proved by the example of the Edison Electric Company of Detroit.

This company is under the management of Alexander Dow, a noted electrician, who was formerly manager of the municipal street-lighting plant of Detroit, from which exeprience, perhaps, he got his ideas of justice and equality in the electric field.

At any rate he declares emphatically that he does not believe in making Mr. Jones pay for the electricity Mr. Brown gets, and never will make his rates that way.

In Boston the small men and the medium men have to pay the interest and depreciation charges in whole or in part for the big consumers, who get rates clear down almost to the rock bottom of the bare operating cost.

The Boston Edison Company makes large discounts to big consumers. If your bill is $150 a month, you get forty per cent. off, and on amounts over $550 a month you get fifty per cent. off, and even seventy-five per cent., and eighty-five per cent. on biggest contracts. The small man gets no discount from his rate at all.

These discounts of forty and fifty per cent. are in addition to the advantage of a rate of one-quarter of a cent per lamp hour (sixteen candle power) or five cents per kilowatt on all beyond 300 hours of the demand. This means a rate of five cents on substantially the whole amount used where the customer takes a large supply; and then the forty per cent. and fifty per cent. discounts bring the charge down to close to three cents. In some cases that is the actual rate charged.

The Detroit Edison Company does not make any such low rate for electric light to any customer, no matter how large. It makes a difference of only ten per cent. in the discounts it gives to its various customers.

All users who pay promptly get ten per cent. discount. On monthly bills over $50 the company gives fifteen per cent. off; and on monthly bills over $100 the discount is twenty per cent., and that is the highest discount given to anyone.

A vast difference between twenty per cent. and eighty-five per cent. discount, isn't there?

The Detroit plan is a great improvement on the Boston plan from the standpoint of social justice and public policy. But even the Detroit system does not go far enough, as we shall see hereafter.

Are Boston Girls Bores?

By Winifred Black

THE editor of a weekly paper has come out in cold print and thrown a defi at the feet of the admired and admiring American girl.

"The American girl from eighteen to twenty-five is a bore," he says. What do you think of that, girls?

I don't know the editor of this weekly and I don't have to understand him to know just the kind of man he is after that, do you?

He's the sort of fellow who doesn't believe in Christmas, thinks engagement rings are silly, and tells all his relatives that he thinks Thanksgiving is the greatest bore on earth.

The Boston girl a bore? Tut, fudge and fillkins! No girl is a bore from eighteen to twenty-five, no matter how ugly or how stupid or how insignificant or how silly she is. She is walking in the enchanted land of romance and the dreams she dreams give to the dullest eye a look that is more beautiful than all the poetry that was ever written.

Of course, I don't like to talk to a girl between eighteen and twenty-five.

Who does—except people of her own age and her own funny little standards? She wouldn't listen to me if I did talk to her; she'd pretend to, poor thing, and she'd say "Now, dear!" and "What a darling thought!" and "Oh, how sweet of you!" and all the time she'd be singing over and over in her happy heart the song that he whistled to her banjo accompaniment the last time she saw him.

Me? What on earth does she care about a commonplace, stupid, middle-aged person, with a family and husband and bills to pay and friends to entertain and little chubby cheeks to kiss?

I don't want to talk to her at all: I just want to sit somewhere where she is and look at her, and laugh at her, and shed a fool tear or two and love her every minute.

Why, I'd rather spend an afternoon watching a room full of eighteen-year-olds giggle and exclaim and gush and attitudinize than go to the best theatre or the most interesting lecture in the world.

They're real, the eighteen-year-olders are!

They're living just the kind of lives they were intended to live. They laugh one minute and cry the next. They're in despair over the fit of a gown and have dark thoughts of suicide because somebody else dances the latest two-step better than they.

Bless the girls and their college pins, and their lunch boxes with the boys' names scribbled all over them, and their immense hair ribbons and their beads and their bracelets and their soft eyes and their gentle hearts and their empty heads! Bless them every minute, and out upon any old fossil that dares confess that he finds the American girl from eighteen to twenty-five a bore.

When I get so that I think every one who isn't interested in just exactly the kind of things that I am interested in is a bore, I am going out to Kansas somewhere, buy a good, warm, dry cyclone cellar, crawl into it and bore myself to death.

She Gives a Word of Advice to the Wife Who Thinks She Is Neglected and Cruelly Treated

"I love him very much. I do not know what to do—live with him or leave him."

THIS is the gist of a letter received by me from a woman who writes of the neglect and cruelty of her husband—a letter full of wails of woe and sorrow.

Her husband is jealous without cause, and he makes her life miserable by his tempers and his moods. And then she closes with the sentence quoted above, and asks for my advice.

Why, my dear lady, you have answered your own query. Of course, if you love the man, you will live with him.

That is woman's nature. If you love enough, and if your mental powers are trained in the way of thinking love, as well as your heart is in feeling it, you can reform the man and make him into a good husband, unless he is an absolute brute.

Very few men are.

One man has written me to say that I ought not to advise women to try and be pleasing to the masculine sex, as men are "pigs, pure and simple."

But I do not agree with him. It has been my good fortune to be closely associated with men who were not even remotely related to pigs. I find men quite as good as women, taken all in all, and I am afraid I know more good husbands than I do good wives.

So many women are blind to their own aggravating faults—faults which are as irritating and as petty as a swarm of gnats; and they pose as models of virtue and goodness, and their casual acquaintances wonder how husbands can be so cruel as to neglect such wives.

Perhaps you who wrote the letter from which I quote have aggravated your husband in a score of ways without realizing it.

Women Are Irritating

VERY few women seem to realize that it is a part of the marriage obligation, as well as a matter of courtesy, to study a husband's peculiarities and weaknesses, and to avoid irritating him in these especial points.

We are very thoughtful of our guests in such matters—we suit our subjects of conversation and our manners to their tastes; and why should we not be as careful of the feelings of those nearest to us as we are of those casual acquaintances?

If, as you say, madam, you love your husband very much, you ought to use all your powers of mind and heart to make him happy, and you can do a great deal by just thinking and believing that he is all that you want him to be.

Dwell as little as possible upon his faults. Put the thought of them out of your mind, and think of all of his good qualities. Say to yourself a score of times each day: "He is good, kind, appreciative, loving. He loves me as I do him. He is going to care for me more and more as the days go by."

Blot Out Faults

KEEP thinking and saying this to yourself. Do not argue or dispute with him. Be patient and agreeable, and wait for results. It is worth the trial, surely, since you love the man.

Mind is greater than matter, and love is the strongest power in the universe. There is nothing it cannot accomplish when it is wisely directed.

Instead of spending your time in futile tears and brooding over your husband's lack of tenderness, spend it in declaring to yourself that he is all tenderness, love and appreciation. Your tears have accomplished nothing—your assertions may accomplish everything, for they are based on a great law—the law of Divine will. You are in love with the real man.

The petty jealousies and ill-tempers of your husband are only acquired habits. Ignore them in your thoughts of him, and call to the real man, the real lover, to assert itself.

Try this for three months.

Do not talk about it, but keep steadily at work in the silence, and believe God is with you in the work. He is always working with those who love.

A Welcome for Dr. Letwin

By Meyer Bloomfield

A MEMBER of the historic Russian Duma visits Boston to-day. He represents in his person our own spirit of '76, now stirring in darkest Russia.

Not often does an opportunity come to Americans so concretely of showing their enthusiasm for liberators, for political heroes whose platforms are world movements.

When Lafayette revisited the scenes of his early sacrifices, a grateful republic gave him tremendous welcome, both because he gave of his best for its freedom and because in his person he represented the great world-hunger for liberty. It was this incarnation of the freedom-fighter which made the appearance of Kossuth a signal for wildest excitement along the decorated New York streets.

The visits of these two universal heroes are matter of American history to-day. Every schoolboy has been thrilled by the description of the demonstrations which greeted the two visitors.

Once again there comes to us a living embodiment of the sort of human passion which made us a republic. Are we too remote from those stirring days to feel amidst our feverish commercialism something of the original impulse which made the minute men, Valley Forge and the Declaration possible?

Assuredly not. Dr. Lewin belongs to every right-hearted citizen. He is of the glorious fraternity which creates republics. Our histories tell about such men as he. He is fighting as the men we sing about have fought.

Our enthusiasm for Dr. Lewin should be heard "round the world"—even in St. Petersburg. Let us honor our Americanism by doing honor to the visitor.
